Note: The author does not follow this line further.

Now, compare this with my supposed relationship of the Berne Youngs (para 2 on the previous page). Note how closely the one falls in with the other. As far as I am concerned, the Youngs found in the Berne churches are the same persons noted in the Schoharie church records, but carried one generation further.

Then, if you realize that the ages given in the census records are approximate in many cases, and also that the ages depend upon what time of the year the census was taken, as well as the possibility that the ages, in some cases, referred to the past birthday, and in others to the future birthday, it is easy to reconcile oneself to believing that the John, son of Peter, whose wife was Susanna, is the same person as the John and Susan of the Census records of 1851.

Incidentally, the Youngs of Fredericksburgh, Henry, Peter, and Stephen, all U. E. L., descend from the John Hendrick, born 24.1.1716, who married Catharine Lantman. For their burials, note Langhorn Parish Register.

Dr. Demorest is going away for a month, beginning early in July. I have the Young (Jung) book and expect to return it after he returns from the trip. If you are down this way in the near future, come in and see it.

Sincerely,

The first part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the various methods of determining the rate of reaction. The most common method is the measurement of the change in concentration of one of the reactants or products as a function of time. This can be done by various means, such as titration, gravimetry, or spectrophotometry. The rate of reaction is then calculated from the slope of the curve obtained.

Another method is the measurement of the change in pressure or volume of a gas as a function of time. This method is particularly useful for reactions involving gases.

The rate of reaction is also affected by various factors, such as temperature, concentration, and the presence of catalysts. The effect of temperature can be studied by measuring the rate of reaction at different temperatures.
 The effect of concentration can be studied by measuring the rate of reaction at different concentrations of the reactants. Catalysts are substances which increase the rate of reaction without being consumed in the process.

The study of reaction rates is of great importance in chemistry, as it helps us to understand the mechanism of a reaction.

In the next part of the paper, we will discuss the various factors which affect the rate of reaction.

The first factor is temperature. The rate of reaction increases with increasing temperature. This is because the molecules have more energy and are therefore more likely to collide with sufficient energy to overcome the activation energy barrier.

The second factor is concentration. The rate of reaction increases with increasing concentration of the reactants.
 This is because there are more molecules available to collide and react.

The third factor is the presence of catalysts. Catalysts increase the rate of reaction by providing an alternative pathway with a lower activation energy.

The fourth factor is the surface area of a solid reactant.
 The rate of reaction increases with increasing surface area.
 This is because there are more molecules available to
 collide and react.

Note: This family apparently lived in the vicinity of Hoosick (Hooseck), then Albany county, and the family record was found in Albany "Dutch Settlers," Schoharie churches and New York. Peter Landmann, who was probably the father of our Catharine, was a son of Peter of Stockheim in the Sovereignty of Isenburg, Budingon, who married Elisabetha, daughter of Johann Planck of Dansenan in the Sovereignty of Nassau. Some writers claim that the name Landman was in some instances changed to Countryman. This author has been unable to locate any further trace of this large family. They may have moved to Canada.

THE YOUNG (JUNG) FAMILIES of the Mohawk Valley.

Compiled by

Clifford M. Young.

Hendrick Young (Jung) Line.

1. Hendrick Young and Anna Margaretha (probably Timmerman) arrived in America with the Palatines in 1710 and went to the Camps on the Hudson. He was one of the Palatine volunteers in Col. Nicholson's expedition against the French in 1711, which apparently amounted to only a long march to the Canadian border and return. The records show that Hendrick and family migrated to Schoharie with that large group settling there about 1712. He and Theobald Young (probably brothers) are the only ones of record (Immigrants) bearing the name "Jung," who went to Schoharie. Their further migration to the Mohawk Valley is discussed elsewhere in this record. It is regretted that the parentage of Hendrick Jung and the maiden name of Anna Margaretha were not given in any of the early records.

JACOB YOUNG was undoubtedly their first born (1710). Perhaps he was born on the high seas or in England before they sailed that year, as church records do not show his birth, except that at the time of his death the records of the Dutch Reformed Church of Sand Hill (Fort Plain) say he was born in 1710.

MARIA CATHERINE was born to Hendrick and Margaretha October 28 (Kocherthal Record).

JOHN HENDRICK and ANNA MARGARETHA (twins) were born to this couple in Schoharie January 24, 1716 (Kocherthal Record). It should be noted that the Simmendinger Register of 1717 states that Hendrick Jung and Anna Margaretha had four children up to this time, which accounts for Jacob's birth in 1710, which was not recorded.

PETER, birth date not recorded, was born to this couple probably after 1719, when Rev. Kocherthal had died.

JOHN FREDERICK, birth date not found, was born to Hendrick and Anna Margaretha Young. It is probable that both Peter and Johann Frederick were born after the twins, during that period immediately following the death of Rev. Joshua Kocherthal, when records were not so well kept; or they may have been born in the Mohawks Country and their births recorded in the early churches of either Stone Arabia or German Flats. These churches were destroyed and most of their records lost, so that few baptismal records of that period exist.

CHILDREN OF SECOND GENERATION.

(Hendrick Young and Anna Margaretha, parents)

2--1 Jacob Young, born in 1710, married Dorothy (probably Reichert). They lived at Sand Hill (Fort Plain, then Canajoharie, Albany County, later town of Minden, Montgomery County) where he purchased several lots in the Bleecker Patent. Jacob died January 12, 1794, aged 84 years, and doubtless was buried in the Sand Hill cemetery. His will is quoted elsewhere; and church records indicate that Dorothy was still living in 1803. She might have been several years younger than Jacob or lived to a very old age. Record of her birth has not been found but it is probable that she was a daughter of Conrad Reichert.

2--2 Maria Catharine, born October 28, 1711, registered for matrimony to Johannes Reichert, son of Conrad Reichert, June 14, 1748 (Schoharie Dutch Reformed Church record, pg. 289 of Translation).

2--3 JOHN ~~FREDERICK~~ HENDRICK, born January 24, 1716, married Catharine Landrum or Lantman, January 24, 1744.

2--4 Anna Margaretha, born January 24, 1716 (Kocherthal Record) married Johannes Hess, Jr., Nov. 10, 1743 (Stone Arabia L. C.). Confusion has arisen among certain genealogists with regard to the parentage of this Anna Margaretha Young, some claiming she might have been a daughter of Theobald Jung; and others believing that Frederick Young was her father. The only Anna Margaretha Young of that early date, of which we have found any record, was recorded as a daughter of Hendrick and Anna Margaretha Young.

When David Hess was born to the said John Hess, Jr., and wife Anna Margaretha, it is true that the elder Theobald Young and wife Catharine were sponsors at the baptism. The records indicate that Hendrick Young and some of the family had returned to Schoharie in 1732 and therefore were not readily available to act as sponsors when their grandson David was baptized. The close relationship between the two Young families readily accounts for the presence of Theobald and wife to act as sponsors.

As previously indicated, it is possible that Hendrick and Theobald were brothers, and these two families moved from Schoharie to the Mohawk Valley in about 1722. Frederick was a son of Theobald Young and of the same generation as Margaretha Young Hess, and apparently they must have been cousins. No Frederick Jung appears in the records of Palatine Immigrants arriving in 1710. The "father" theory with regard to Frederick appears to have grown out of the fact that Anna Margaretha Hess purchased from Frederick Young a lot in the Philip Livingston patent, bearing date of March 22, 1768, to which her son David fell heir. David sold the lot to one Jacob Ratnauer of Freysbush June 6, 1788, and in the description of the land as appears in this deed it is claimed that Frederick Young was mentioned as the father of the said Anna Margaretha Young Hess. A careful reading of the deed as recorded in Deed Book 8, in the Montgomery County Clerk's office at Fonda, shows that nothing in the deed tends to indicate that Frederick Young was the father of the said Anna Margaretha. As a matter of fact, no record has been found to show that Frederick Young ever married, but he owned considerable property in the Livingston patent and had otherwise received from the Crown a large grant of land near Sharon.

2--5 Peter, birth not found, according to the Schoharie church record, registered for matrimony to Maritje Anderson June 14, 1743. There is no record showing that they ever did marry, and it is probable that the Peter Young noted in the Schoharie German Lutheran Church record as having married Margaretha Freymauer August 2, 1743, was this same Peter whose name appears in the record as the son of Hendrick Jung. No other Peter Jung is recorded in Schoharie that early. Further evidence that this is the same Peter is the fact that he registered for matrimony on the same date as his sister Maria Catherine, who married Johannes Reichert. There is some evidence elsewhere stated, which tends to indicate that Hendrick and some of his family returned from the Mohawk Valley to Schoharie or vicinity, as will be observed by the church record of marriages and births of his grandchildren; also the fact that when Hendrick sold his land in the Palatine district the deed states as a reason "he moving." (See copy of deed dated 1732.)

2--6 Johan Frederick, birth date not found, was probably born in the Mohawk's country after 1722. He married Catharine Schumacher, widow of Melchoir Bell, March 18, 1762. They had Dorothy, born January 26, 1764. It is possible that this might have been a second marriage for both. It also seems quite probable that Dorothy was named for her Aunt Dorothy, wife of Jacob Young, Sr., of Fort Plain. Johan Frederick Jung was sponsor for John Frederick Hess, born May 10, 1751, to Johann Hess and Anna Margaretha (Young) Hess, his sister

It is uncertain when the other members of the Young family arrived in Fredericksburgh. The Parish Register of St Pauls, the work of the Rev. John Langhorn, records the burial of Hendrick Young, Sr. ^{on 23 Aug 1789} and his wife Catharina ^{on 23 January 1802}. Hendrick or Henry Jr and his wife Elehis, or Eleanor were here by 1788, when their son Jacob was baptized. From that date the Youngs became a firm fixture in the life of Fredericksburgh Township. Several active families are still with us, much to our satisfaction, as solid citizens.

It is strange that only one of the many Youngs presented a claim for losses during the late war. The lone one was that of Peter which was presented by him in Montreal on 1787.

Here is a copy:

Claim No 882

Claim of Peter Young, of Bennington, Pownal Township, Vermont. Claimt. says:

He was in St. John's; 2nd Batten in St. Michaels, gave his Claim to Major Leake in '83. Sent another to Halifax

~~He was~~ As a native of America, lived at Bennington. joined Burg. was kept a prisoner. Got away as soon as he could & joined Sir John's 2nd Batten. Served till ye Regt. was Discharged

He had 6 acres of meadow land in Pownal given him by his Father to Claimt. in 1775. He built a framed house, 2 brood mares, 1 horse, 2 colts, 2 cows, taken when he joined Genl. Burg.

Abraham Defoe. Wits.:

Knew Claimt. he joined Burg. He served in Sir John's 2nd Battalion. Knew his Place, his Father gave it to him. It was in Pownal. His father is now here. The Rebels have got the Place, he had 4 Stallion, 2 mares, 2 colts, 2 Cows.

H

The war years, as far as the Youngs are concerned are most uncertain. So much is left to conjecture. The situation becomes more uncertain when it is realized that there were ~~X~~ at least four Hendrick or Henry Youngs residing near Albany, N.Y. It is relatively easy to separate the two families both before and after the war, but not during the war years. Little is known of the family of Hendrick Young, except his sons Peter and Stephen. These two are known to have enlisted in July 1777, and to have been recorded as members of Capt. Samuel McKays Company of Loyal Volunteers, and that were recorded as prisoners with the enemy in a military Roll of the Volunteers on 20 December 1777. The next record is their entry into Canada ~~X~~ on 9th October 1780, having come from Half Moon by Flag of Truce, Peter having with him his wife Mary and a daughter aged 8 years. They were then already enlisted for the King's Rangers, commanded by Major James Rogers.

Mary and daughter appear on Subsistence Lists from that time at St. Johns until the removal up the St. Lawrence River to the Bay of Quinte. Peter & Stephen finally appear in 1783 as privates in Sir John Johnson's 2nd Bn. K.R.R.N.Y. They had begun military service with McKays Volunteers, which, on the death of McKay, passed under the ~~X~~ command of Major Leake. On the major's cessation of command, his men ~~were~~ largely became absorbed into the 2nd K.R.R.N.Y.

This last regiment was posted at Oswego as its garrison. Then, when the Peace arrived, the battalion was transferred to ^{Fort Frontenac} Kingston in August 1783, to rebuild its barracks and to prepare for the arrival of about 5000 refugee Loyalists in the following spring. Finally, in June, 1784, the battalion was disbanded and its members became first settlers in Frederickburgh Township. Here there settled Peter, his wife and daughter. There was also his son Peter, who had been a drummer ~~X~~ in the latter years of the war, and also Stephen the brother of Peter senior.

When the clouds of war darkened the Upper Hoosac Valley the residents along the river, stood quietly by, well knowing their attitude of Loyalty to law and order. When General Burgoyne's Army appeared on the Upper Hudson in the summer of 1777, more than half of the residents of Dutch Hoosick joined its ranks. John Defoe (Dayfoot, ~~Diapo~~) with his five sons, ~~Henry Young~~ and three sons swelled the ranks, with the Ruyters, Bests and Lantmans, declared their willingness. There is evidence that Henry Young and his sons ~~may have been~~ with Peter's Queen's Loyal Rangers at the Battle of Bennington. Henry and Peter were captured ^{may have been} and marched ^{they may have been} along the river to Bennington roped together. It is also likely that they were a part of the prisoners who were used the following winter to break the road ^{and the hills} ~~to Bennington~~, likewise roped together ~~break the road to Bennington~~. the twenty-two miles over the hills to Bennington.

Hendrick, evidently the father, in consideration of his age, he was then 61 years of age, was released and permitted to return home by the Council of Safety of Vermont on the 21st October 1777. The son Peter was still a prisoner along with his neighbor Abraham Devos, who was of the same age. Stephen Young apparently avoided escape.

170c He was years, as far as the Youngs were concerned, appear hazy to our generation. It is known that two of the sons, Peter and Stephen ~~had~~ joined Burgoyne's Army and became members of Capt. Samuel McKay's Loyal Volunteers. Peter appears to have been captured as was Hendrick evidently the father. The father was released Oct 21, 1777, having apparently been captured in the Battle of Bennington as likely also were his brothers Stephen as well as a Daniel Young. They were still prisoners as shown in a muster roll of McKay's Volunteers, dated 20 December 1777.

and his four sons, as well as Henry, Pieter and Stephen Youngs to swell the ranks.

In her book "The Hoosac Valley Its Legends and Its History," Grace Greiflock Miles makes several references to these people. One paragraph begins:

"Eight or ten greedy bughers, also, of Rensselaerwyck, headed by Juria Krieger, pushed ^X up the Hoosac Pass about 1724 and "squatted" on the Cohoha confalls, near the junction of Wash-Tub Brook with the Hoosac, about Krieger's Rocks and at Weeping Rocks, nearly four miles east of Twenty-Mile Line of New York, on the New Hampshire Grants. No contemporary records exist of those settlements, although after Pownal was chartered to the English in 1760, the Dutch land claimants of several farms included the names of Juria Krieger, Petrus Voseburgh (Vose), Bastian Van Dell (Diel), Franz Burns and his brother, Pitt Hogle (Van Hogleboom), Henry Young, School Masters Watson, Mr. Devot, Long Andries, ^X John Spencer; and later the Van Amann, Van Norman, Anderson, Fischer and Westinghouse families."

~~Later in this paragraph~~

On page 231 is found this paragraph:

"Several Dutch and German tenants of Rensselaerwyck "squatted" in Pownal on N. H. Grants between 1724 and 1760, including: Hogg and Voseburgh (Vose) families on the site of Green Brummer farm; Best on the Ichabod Paddock and Silas Eldred farms; Bastian Van Dell, Petrus Bovie, and Pitt Van Hogleboom later on the Voseburgh farm, known to-day as the Sherman Brownell Place near the State Line Bridge; Juria Krieger settled north of Krieger's Rocks at North Pownal and built ^X a grist-mill near the site of the Silas Paddock residence. The Van Norman, Westinghouse and Varin families settled later in Krieger's neighborhood; and the Fischer, Anderson and Young families located at Three Corners and "Weeping Rocks" farther up the valley.

In 1760, when Pownal was chartered to the English, Henry

Young, the Devoet and Van Annam resided east of the adopted New York line in New England." 68

It is believed that these excerpts confirm the presence of Youngs in the Hoosac area, as noted in the Young Genealogy. It is believed also that Hendricks Young, having married the ~~handman~~ ^{girl} in 1744, was induced by her relatives to make the move from the Mohawk river to the Upper Hoosac, shortly after marriage in 1744.

As there will be those who might deny that the Hendricks Young of Hoosac belonged to the Young family, considering him to be the man later to become the Lieut. Henry Young, early settler in Prince Edward, it might be well to add a few notes on that family as:

The Youngs of Prince Edward County.

"Of the ancestry of the Youngs, Guy Henry Young, the Lieutenant's grandfather, who was born in Wellington, Nottinghamshire, ^{England}, and after emigrating to Long Island, N. Y., married a Scottish girl and two sons, George and Henry, were born. Two more sons William and John, and two daughters, were born at Husack N. Y., and here he spent the residue of his days, dying at the venerable age of ninety-three. Of his family, John died in infancy, William learned surveying, became a civil engineer and was one of the staff who surveyed the islands of Lake Ontario and made the first surveys of the Erie Canal. He became Gen. Wm C. Young and died in New York City at the ripe age of ninety four, about the year 1780, ---

Henry, the second son, who was born March 10, 1737, joined the British Army and served during the French and Indian wars. He received his discharge in 1761 and, returning to Husack, married Miss Mary Fletcher, a lady of Spanish extraction. Her father was a slave owner, carrying on extensive farming operations on the plantation lands of the ^{Van} Rensselaer estate. The manor house of this estate which was once the headquarters of Gen. Abercrombie, where in the Stone Arabia district. The settlement at Palatine Bridge of this group of Palatines became a reality. Heinrich Young, in 1730, purchased 703 acres of land on the north side of the Mohawk River between Canajoharie and Fort Plain. Here he settled down with his wife, Anna Magaretha Young and the following children

1. Jacob, born in 1711, whose baptism has not been found,
2. Maria Catharine, born 28 Oct 1711, as is recorded by Kochenthal.
3. Twin's John Hendrick and
- 4 Anna Magaretha born in Schoharie 24 Jan. 1716, as revealed by the Kochenthal records.
5. Peter, born in 1719 but not recorded, as the Rev. Kochenthal had died a few months before.
6. John Frederick, of whom there is no recorded account.

John Hendrick, the twin of Anna Magaretha, was born in Schoharie on Jan. 24, 1716. He married Catherine Landman (Landman) on Jan. 24, 1744, his twenty-eighth birthday. The next record of John Hendrick and wife is their presence in the community of Dutch Hoosick, a settlement on the Upper Hoosick River, as shown on a map of Rensselaer Manor in 1767. This settlement along the banks of the Hoosick River by a group largely made up of Palatine German names, such as Ruiter, Best or Pest, Landman, Best, Deil, Kreiger, Derock and Young. It might be noted that the Hans Landman in this list was likely a brother of the Jung Genealogy records the Young children as

1. Pieter, born November 23, 1746. Died young.
2. Pieter, born December 4, 1748
3. Elisabeth, born April 28, 1751
4. Johannes, born May 30, 1753,
5. Catharina, born April 6, 1755. 505

Before proceeding further, it should be noted that at least some of the dates in these records are of baptism and not births.

The Young Genealogy continues:

"Note: This family apparently lived in the vicinity of Hoosick (Hoosick), then Albany county, and the family record was found in Albany 'Dutch Settlers,' Schoharie churches and New York. Peter Sandman, who was probably the father of Catharine, was a son of Peter of Stockheim in the Sovereignty of Isenburg, Buedingen, who married Elisabetha, daughter of Johann Planch of Dansenon in the Sovereignty of Nassau. Some writers claim that the name Sandman was in some instances changed to Countryman.

This author has been unable to locate any further trace of this large family. They may have moved to Canada."

The author evidently was only too right in his assumption that this large family had removed to Canada. Without a doubt they were the originators of the many Young families in Frederickburg Township on the Bay of Quinte.

The families of Dutch Hoosick were not greatly disturbed by the difficulties developing between New York and New Hampshire over ownership of the lands of the Green Mountain Valleys. However, the American Revolution was another matter, and the residents quickly took sides. When General Burgoyne's army reached the Upper Hudson River there were stirrings on the Upper Hoosicks. From this region came the Ruyters + Perls, or Bests, Sandman, John Dewet (Dafol)

Catharine, was a son of Peter of Stockholm in the Sovereignty of Isenburg, Biedingen, who married Elisabetha, daughter of Johann Plank of Densen in the Sovereignty of Nassau. Some writers claim that the name Landman was in some instances changed to Countryman.

This author has been unable to locate any further trace of this large family. They may have moved to Canada.

The author was only too right, ^{in reference to their possible removal to Canada} ~~as~~ ^{the} members of this family did settle in Canada, in fact, in ~~the~~ ^{Fredericksburgh Township} on our Bay of Quinte.

It would appear that Hendrick and his wife Catharine also came to Canada. It is recorded that ^a Hendrick was buried by Rev John Langhorn 23 August 1789. If this is the son of the Palatine German John Hendrick Jung, he was aged 24 years & 8 months.

Catharina Jung was also buried by Langhorn 23 January 1802. ^{the wife of Hendrick,} If she was Catharine Landman, she must have been more than eighty years of age.

If this be true, they did not come to Canada until after the first settlement in 1784, as their names are not on the Quebec list of Refugee settlers in Fredericksburgh ~~at~~ at that time.

Three of their sons were with the British Army during the American Revolution. They were Peter and Stephen. There was ^{also a Hendrick who is believed to be their eldest brother, the apparently first born of Johann Hendrick & Catharina. They were married in 1744, and this Hendrick born in 1745, was likely their first child and likely ^{believed to have been} born during their removal to Dutchess.}

The Muster Roll of Fredericksburgh of 5 Oct 1784 contains the names of Hendrick, Peter and Stephen. The latter two are shown to be sons of Hendrick & Catharina. Hendrick Jr. is also believed to be the eldest son of the same family. Why he is not recorded as such is unknown. Unless he was born during the transition from Schoharie to Rensselaerwyck.

The Youngs of Fredericksburgh.

The Youngs ~~family~~ of Fredericksburgh ^{are} another member of the numerous Palatine German ^{families} to be found among the Loyalists of the Bay of Quinte region. Like so many families of this group, the name has undergone changes in spelling although the pronunciation remains the same — Jung, with the j pronounced as a y, becomes Young. We have only to recall others in the group. Wist or Wiso becomes Weese; Trombauer becomes Trumppour; Imberger becomes Embury; Delmach becomes Dulmage. Even Dutch names ^{have} undergone changes — Isselsteyn becomes Baseltine; Mabile becomes Mabee or Maybee; Hogleboom has been shortened to Hogle.

The search ^{for} the ancestry and succeeding generations has been complicated by the fact that three separate Young families have settled in the Bay of Quinte area. We have the English young of Prince Edward Co., the Scottish Youngs of the and the Palatine Youngs of Fredericksburgh. At times, particularly during the Revolutionary War all three were to be found in the Loyalist ranks. So caution must be the rule.

Among the German families of the Rhine Valley who had suffered for many years at the hands of marauding French armies was Hendrick Jung and his young wife Anna Margaretha (probably surnamed Zimmerman). When good Queen Anne of England offered these Palatine families refuge in Great Britain and Ireland and the American Colonies thousands made their way down the Rhine Valley to the sea and subsequent voyage to England. Among them were Hendrick Jung and wife ~~in 1710~~ who ended up in America in 1710. In the following year, Hendrick was one of the Palatine Volunteers in Colonel Nicholson's expedition against the French, which is said to have amounted to a long march to the Canadian border and return. ^{By} 1712, their first child, Jacob, was born. ^{By} 1717 they were residing in ^X New Heeseberg, in the Schoharie Valley, New York, with a family of four children. In 1722, Hendrick, with other residents of Schoharie, received a land grant ³⁶

Funeral at Bath Of Fletcher Young

Prominent Resident Passes
—Was Born in South
Fredericksburg

June 3, 1933

BATH—The funeral of the late Fletcher Young, which took place on Tuesday afternoon from his late residence to St. John's Anglican Church, was one of the largest seen in the village in some time, evidencing the regard and esteem in which he was held by the residents as a whole.

The service, which was conducted by the pastor, Rev. L. O. Walker, although very impressive, was marked by its simplicity. St. John's Church was unable to accommodate the large number of friends and practically every resident member of Maple Leaf Masonic Lodge was present. The pallbearers were selected from the members of the craft, including relatives and the interment took place in the family plot in Sandhurst cemetery. There was a profusion of flowers.

Mr. Young was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Young and was born in South Fredericksburg. His father was a farmer, and the deceased spent his earlier years on the farm. About eighteen years ago he with Mrs. Young and family came to Bath, the former having purchased the coal business from G. A. Wartman.

His eighteen years in the village had been marked with splendid success. Mr. Young took an active part in the municipal and educational life of the community, and for some time was a member of the village council. For the past number of years he was a member of the school board, and his death creates a vacancy.

Very interested in fraternalism, he joined the Masonic Order many years ago and for twelve years was secretary of Maple Leaf Lodge, having to give up this work the beginning of the year owing to ill health. His wife predeceased him about ten months.

In his passing Bath has lost a resident it can ill afford to lose, and the village will be the poorer by his death.

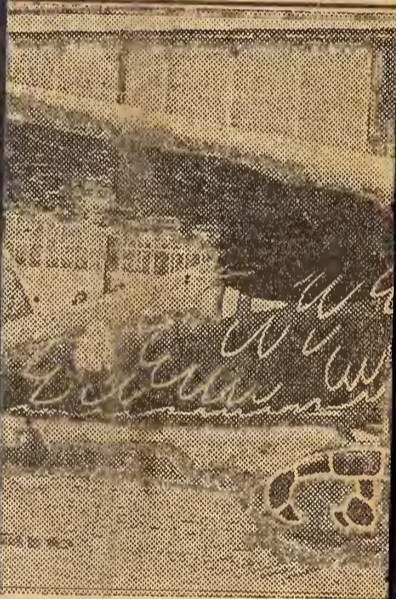

To mourn his loss are two sons, Clarence of Williamstown and Ernest, teacher at Wilton, and one daughter, Miss Madeline, who has been attending the Napanee Collegiate Institute. He also leaves one sister, Mrs. (Dr.) H. S. Northmore.

MRS. A. P. YOUNG

Mrs. A. P. Young, a well known and highly respected resident of the Bath district, passed away suddenly at her home on Wednesday, July 1, at the age of 84.

Mrs. Young was the former Susan Harwood Claringbold, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Claringbold and was born in the Bath area, where she lived all her life.

In 1894 she married Amos Percival Young, who predeceased her in 1934.

Mrs. Young was a devoted member of St. Paul's Anglican Church, Sandhurst, and was an active and interested member of all the church organizations. For a number of years she was district secretary of the Women's Institute and during her term of office, helped organize many Institute branches.

The late Mrs. Young is survived by her three sons: Gordon L. of Bath; Dr. Claude R., of Binghampton, N.Y.; and Gerald P., at home, also three grandchildren, Mrs. Howard Sexsmith, of Montreal; Robert and Emily Young, of Binghampton, N.Y.; and a great-grandson, David Sexsmith, of Montreal; as well as two sisters, Mrs. Eliza Conway, Bracebridge, and Mrs. Beatrice White, of Bishopric, Sask.

A large number of relatives and friends attended the funeral, which was held on Friday afternoon, July 8, at St. Paul's Anglican Church, and was conducted by her minister, Rev. A. Brandon, assisted by Rev. L. G. C. Walker, of Camden East.

The many beautiful floral tributes were evidence of the esteem and love in which the deceased was held.

Pall - bearers were Kenneth Hill, J. Elliott, Edmund Wright, Arthur Whitfield, Harold Ackerman and William Smith.

The flower - bearers were Archie Wright, Harry Babcock, James Carroll, Wilfred Ackerman, and Kenneth Morrow.

Interment was in St. Paul's Anglican Cemetery, Sandhurst.

make collections from various portions of his patrol area and forward these to the Forest Insect Laboratory at Sau't Ste. Marie, where they are identified and recorded.

Six fires occurred during the latter part of June when the fire danger built up to high. Fire fighting crews were able to get these fires under control quickly and acreages were small. Generally the temperature was very warm and the relative humidity high. Three fires were caused by lightning, one each by careless campers and smokers and another one started in McClure Township when an oil tank trailer owned by the Miller Paving Co., burned and spread to the woods on the Whitney Lake St. Peter road. At the end of the week three fires were being patrolled.

This has been a good week from a fire protection standpoint, with 1.66 inches of rain falling on June 22, 23 and 24, when thunderstorms occurred throughout the district.

Only two fires were reported during the week and they were both small and extinguished without much damage being done. One of these fires apparently resulted from carelessness on the part of unknown campers at White Lake in the Township of Bagot, and the other fire was caused by lightning in the vicinity of Vennacher.

Campers and fishermen are now using the woods in large numbers, and they are asked to do their share to guard against forest fires. Before leaving a camp site care should be taken to assure that your campfire is really out, this is most important as many a black looking camp fire has returned to life to destroy forest areas.

LUKE V. YOUNG

NAPANEE — In ill health for one week, the death took place at his home on Mill street of Luke V. Young in his 81st year.

He was a native of Fredericksburgh and the sole surviving son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Amos Young.

In his youth he farmed for some time and later took a position with the Canadian National Railways where he stayed for more than 30 years.

He was twice married, the first time to Annie Deshane who died a number of years ago. Later, he married Anna E. Hart who survives.

He had five children all of whom have died.

Surviving are two grandsons, Bruce and Hugh Richmond, and a granddaughter, Blanche Thompson.

He was a member of Grace United Church and a faithful attendant at services. A few years ago he was appointed to the official board.

The funeral was held Monday from his residence to Grace United Church, conducted by Rev. C. D. McLellan.

The cortege proceeded to Morven Cemetery where interment was made. Pall-bearers were John Switzer, Herbert Cook, Earl Clark, Pat Murphy, Arnold Baker and Edward Baker.

Deaths And Funerals 1959.

CHRISTOPHER E. YOUNG

DESERONTO — A retired farmer, Christopher Emmanuel Young, of Deseronto, died here September 9 at his residence, Thomas street east. He had been ill for a long period.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Young, he had lived in this town for the past 13 years. He was 86 years old.

Prior to coming to Deseronto he had resided at Roblin, and before that at West Plain.

The funeral was held September 10, with the Rev. T. F. Townsend, of Belleville, officiating. Pall-bearers were Glenn Goodfellow, Karl Young, Richard Young, Gary Young, Neil Graham and Everett Herrington. Interment was in Riverview Cemetery, Napanee.

Surviving are his wife, the former Mary Ann McCallum; two sons, William C., of Ottawa and Perry A., of Belleville, and three daughters: Mrs. Harry Blakely, of Oshawa, Mrs. William Murray, of Kingston, and Mrs. Kenneth Orser, of Calgary; also two brothers, Robert, of Marlbank and Oay, of Napanee; three sisters: Mrs. Nellie Lasher, Marlbank, Mrs. Maude Perry, and Mrs. John Benn, both of Napanee.

SEEKS AID

Dear Sir:-

This is an appeal to any descendants of three pioneer families who settled in the townships of Ernestown and/or Fredericksburgh during the period of 1783 to 1816.

Stephen Warner Simmons is said to have been born in Ernestown on or about March 10th, 1817 but I have been unable to learn names of his parents, or where they came from, or if he had any brothers or sisters.

He married Hannah Alcombrack daughter of William Isaac and Elizabeth Garrison Alcombrack who came from Dutchess county, N. Y. state. She was born at Ernestown, October 12th, 1812.

They were my great grandparents and all the information I have succeeded in gathering on them, is set out here.

Another family connection I would like to know more about is, Thomas Caton of Odessa district who, about 1825, married Sarah Ketcheson of Sidney Township, Hastings County. I believe they had a family of two boys, William and Thomas, and four girls, Maria, Harriet, Phoebe and Martha.

Any information respecting these ancestors would be most gratefully received by,

E. Claude Young,

Dr. H.C. Hurleigh

I had not expected to be writing you again so soon, but received a letter which should be of interest to you.

Mrs A.D. Peers of Ferndale, Calif., writes:

"Two years ago my husband and I toured U.S. and went on to Canada to look up history of my relatives. We went to Kingston and Bath. My father was born near Bath April 14, 1837. Near Bath I located a distant relative Bertran Hawley, who helped me very much in finding facts about my ancestors. We have been corresponding since that time and he is the one who sent me the clipping which you put in the paper.

"Now my father's name was Davis Simmons Hawley. His mother was Susannah Maria Simmons, who of course was my grandmother. She was born in 1813 near Bath and died Sept. 20th 1847 after the birth of her 8th child. Her brothers were Davis Simmons, Sheldon Simmons, Nelson Simmons, Bigo Simmons, and Warner Simmons. Now I'm wondering if my grandmother's brother Warner wasn't the one and the same person as the Stephen Warner Simmons you mention. At some time he might have been called by his second name, Warner. It isn't a common name, so I imagine we belong to the same clan. When I was there I tried to find some link with my grandmother's folks but failed to do so. I called on families by the name of Simmons but nothing came of it. I didn't have time to go into it thoroughly but did trace the Hawleys back to 1609.

"My grandmother married James Edward Hawley. My father died at the age of 90, in 1927. He gave me this information about his mother's brothers. Why I didn't get the names of his grandparents Simmons, I don't know. We found the name of PHILO SIMMONS in relation to a deed at that time. He could have been my grandmother's father. She was buried in the Methodist cemetery at Bath. Her tombstone is still there and we took a picture of it. She belonged to the Methodist church but I believe the records were lost in a fire.

"In the meanwhile if you have received any information I'd be very grateful if you'd pass it on to me. I'm interested in the family history. My father said the Simmons were Dutch and came from New York or Penn, I'm not sure which."

Very sincerely yours

Verna Peers

I am enclosing a copy of my reply to Mrs Peers which might possibly be of further interest to you. Also copy of letter sent today to a great grandson of Davis Simmons, who I believe is the one Mrs Peers mentions.

Sincerely yours

Eight or ten greedy burghers, also, of Rensselaerwyck, headed by Juria Krieger, pushed up the Hoosac Pass about 1724 and squatted on the Cohoha Comfields, near the junction of Wash-Tub Brook with the Hoosac, about Krieger's Rocks and the Weeping Rocks, nearly four miles east of Twenty-Mile Line of New York, on the New Hampshire Grants. No contemporary records exist of those settlements, although after Pownall was chartered to the English in 1760, the Dutch land claimants of several farms included such names as Juria Krieger, Petrus Vosburgh (Vose), Bastian Van Deel (Diel), Fanz Beuns and his brother, Petto Hogle (Van Hogleboom), Henry Young, Schore, Martin Watson, Mr. Devot, Georg Andries, John Spencer; and later the Van Amams, Van Norman, Anderson, Fischer and Weslinghouse families.

The historic hamlet of "Dutch Hoosac," burned by General Pigault during King George's War in August, 1746, lay partly on Bratt's Big Hoosac Manor and partly on Van Rensselaer's Little Hoosac Manor. The Dutch meeting-house, schoolhouse, blacksmith-shop, and store, stood about the junction of the Hoosac and Little Hoosac roads on the site of the Petersburgh Four Corners.

Among the first-homesteaders of Rensselaerwyck and Hoosac manors may be named, Johannes De

Ruyter, Hendrick Letcher, Petrus & Hans
 Baehus, Johannes George Bremner and Jacob Best. In the De Fonda neighborhood east of Pratt's Mansion at the base of De Fonda Hill
 resided the Van Derweles, Johannes De Fonda, Knott, Robert and Jan Huyck families. The latter of Jan Huyck are found in Herkimer N.Y.,

Dear Doctor Burleigh

This letter is written at the suggestion of Reeve-Elect Roland Stalker who mentioned to you enquiries I was making in regard to ancestors of my father's and mother's families who I understand were early settlers of the Adolphustown district

I am enclosing copy of record of my father's people back to 1818 when my great grandfather John Youngs married the daughter of an Ameliasburgh farmer (Sarah Walt), but as you will note we have been unable to locate any record of when or where from John Youngs came to the Hillier district. Because of the use of the name YOUNGS, and because he was familiarly known as John HANS, we have concluded he was of Dutch origin.

We also have uncovered what appears to be a brother, named Daniel, who married a Rebecca (surname unknown), raised a family of four boys and one girl, and outlived her husband nearly twenty years. One grandson and three granddaughters survive in the Markworth district, but their memories are too poor to supply any needed details. Judging by the age of the eldest son, we feel that Daniel was possibly a couple of years older than John

It is our belief that John Youngs, and quite possibly Daniel Youngs came to Prince Edward County from Adolphustown area, as so many settlers from the United States did, following migration of the United Empire Loyalists officially listed.

Incidentally you have met a granddaughter of John Youngs, the youngest daughter of the youngest son; Deborah Young, relict of Wm. D. Bedell, resident of east Picton. The writer is a grandson of the eldest son of John and Sarah Youngs, who settled here last August

Just a brief word in regard to my mother's ancestors. Her father Spencer Church Sloan was born at Hay Bay in August 1830. We always understood his people were U.E.L. stock. He married Sarah Jane Casey Simmons, whose people came from south of Napanee. The Sloans were related to the Phippens, Aneys, Aylesworths, Urquharts, but I am uncertain of the details. I have a cousin, Mabel Sloan Wallis in Kingston who can help me on this branch.

Hoping I have not wearied you and that we may get together in the not too distant future,

WISHING YOU

Sincerely

E. Claude Young

It is our belief that John Youngs, and quite possibly Daniel Youngs came to Prince Edward County from Adolphustown area, as so many settlers from the United States did, following migration of the United Empire Loyalists officially listed.

Incidentally you have met a granddaughter of John Youngs, the youngest daughter of the youngest son, Deborah Young, relict of Wm. D. Bedell, resident of east Picton. The writer is a grandson of the eldest son of John and Sarah Youngs, who settled here last August

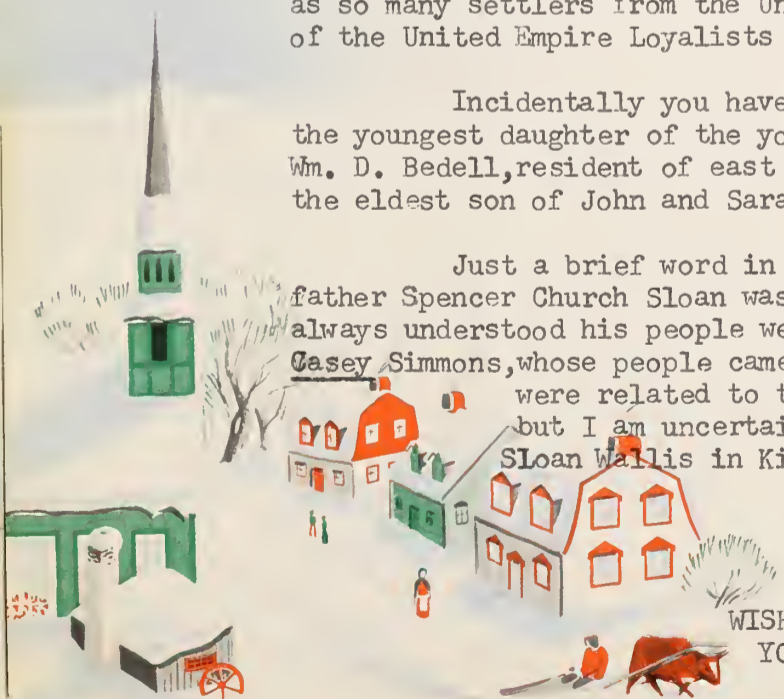

Just a brief word in regard to my mother's ancestors. Her father Spencer Church Sloan was born at Hay Bay in August 1830. We always understood his people were U.E.L. stock. He married Sarah Jane Casey Simmons, whose people came from south of Napanee. The Sloans were related to the Phippens, Ameys, Aylesworths, Urquharts, but I am uncertain of the details. I have a cousin, Mabel Sloan Wallis in Kingston who can help me on this branch.

Hoping I have not wearied you and that we may get together in the not too distant future

The following narrative of events and family incidents was gleaned principally from my grandfather, Nathaniel Osborne, who became totally blind at the age of seventy-seven years,—from Sergt. John Lowe, his comrade during the war of 1812, who also became totally blind in his closing years, both of whom it became my duty when a boy to lead around in their visiting expeditions among old friends and neighbours,—from the late Rev. Dr. George Young of the Manitoba Methodist Conference, who was my first cousin, and from my own revered mother.

The writer was born September 10th, 1835, on what is known as "Hickory Highlands" on the borders of the Bay of Quinte, Prince Edward County. The district got its name on account of the number of hickory trees which grew in that region. In the early days many families were known to gather a store of from three to five bushels of hickory nuts for the winter season.

The Campbells of Adolphustown.

They named me after Lieut. Alexander Campbell of the 42nd Regiment (Black Watch), who was born at Inverary Castle, Scotland, and who emigrated with his family to the United States in 1756 and settled at Schenectady, N.Y.

At the beginning of the Revolutionary war he became a pronounced Royalist and after having his property confiscated and being imprisoned he was driven from the United States, reaching Montreal with his family, with all his belongings in a wagon, and settling at Beauport. (See Ontario Archives Second Report). In 1784 he came to Adolphustown with Capt. Grass's contingent, where he settled on lands granted to Royalists by the British Government. His family consisted of one son and seven daughters. His son, Archibald, was also of the age requisite to draw lands, settled on Lot 19, Con. 5, and served as Township Clerk during 1795-6-7 and 8 inclusive. His son, Archibald, 2nd, was prominent in municipal matters for many years. Another son, Alexander, was appointed second postmaster of Napanee, held that office and was a prominent merchant in Napanee for many years. He built the "Campbell House," also "Lorne Castle," a palatial private residence on the banks of the Napanee River, a short distance below the town. Gibbs Campbell, a grandson of Archibald, Sr., went to Nantucket and Martha's Vineyard some years ago, engaged in the whale fisheries and became wealthy. Archibald Campbell, Sr., died in 1849. At his funeral, which I attended, service was conducted by the Rev. John Black, an aged and eccentric but pious and highly respected old Methodist minister, known as "Uncle Johnny Black." He delivered his discourse standing in the doorway of the old mansion, while the groups of sorrowing friends and neighbours occupied the lawn in front.

Of the seven daughters of Alexander Campbell, Mary, the eldest, married the Hon. Thomas Ridout, who was Surveyor-General of Canada for many years. He had been a captive in the Shawnee Indian tribe of Ohio for several months. His son, Thos. G. Ridout, was appointed Deputy Assistant Commissary-General during the war of 1812 and later became cashier of the Bank of Upper Canada, holding this office for many years. Another son was George Ridout. Capt. J.G. Ridout, William and Donald are descendants. The late Lady Edgar, author of "Ten Years of Upper Canada in Peace and War," "Life of General Brock" (Makers of Canada Series), and "A Colonial Governor in Maryland" (Horatio Sharpe, 1753-1773) was a daughter of Com.-Gen. Thos. G. Ridout.

Annie married Wm. Radenhurst, Deputy Surveyor-General. His son, Lieut. Tom Radenhurst, was prominent in the war of 1812 and took part in the capture of the U.S. gunboats Scorpion and Tigress near St. Joseph's Island, Lake Huron. The late C.A. Radenhurst, Police Magistrate of Barrie, was a descendant.

Catharine married Capt. Grant, who was active in the war of 1812, but later retired to Scotland. Their sons were prominent lawyers in the pioneer days of Toronto. Miss Annie Grant, the last descendant of the family, died in that city a few years ago.

Jeanette became the bride of Elisha Miller, a staunch Royalist of the Capt. Grass contingent, who settled on Col. Young's allotment at East Lake, Prince Edward County. One of their sons was Rev. Gilbert Miller, who became missionary to the Indians at Coldwater and Couchiching in 1832. A grandson, Rev. J.W. Miller, became President of the Michigan Conference of the M.E. Church. Elisha attained the venerable age of ninety-six years.

Sarah (my grandmother) became the wife of Sergt.-Major Nathaniel Osborne, who was Master of Transportation during the relief expedition from Kingston to Mackinaw under command of Capt. Andrew Bulger during the war of 1812. One of his sons was Rev. John C. Osborne who, as a Methodist minister, rode the circuits of the wilderness in early days. Rev. H.S. Osborne of Timothy Eaton Memorial Church, Toronto, is a grandson.

Elizabeth became the wife of Col. Hildebrand Valteau, a staunch Royalist and active veteran of the war of 1812. He achieved local fame by his activity in the Department of the Militia and in promoting the annual meetings at the training grounds at Grassy Point on His Majesty's birthday every fourth of June.

Fanny married Henry Davis, also of the Adolphustown Royalists, who fought in the war of 1812 as sergeant in the 29th Regiment, the members of whose large family became active and prominent in the municipal affairs of the township, holding the highest offices. Mr. Allan R. Davis of Toronto, a writer, and author of the "Old Loyalist," is a descendant of the family.

Thus far I have used the term "Royalist," as the title "United Empire Loyalist" (U.E.L.) was not conferred until a meeting of the Legislative Council held under Lord Dorchester in 1789.

The Youngs of Prince Edward County.

My mother's name was Gleranna Young, second daughter of Lieut. Henry Young, who served as Ensign in Sir John Johnson's regiment during the Revolutionary war. On his retirement at the close of the war he was promoted to the rank of Major in the Militia. A patriotic Canadian and U.E. Loyalist, he was again called to arms on the outbreak of the war of 1812, and as lieutenant raised a company in Prince Edward County, with which he proceeded to Kingston, but he was soon stricken with disease and died in the Military Hospital there in December of the same year. According to the Report of the Canadian Archives for 1905, Lieut. Henry Young of the Provincial Corps was granted two thousand acres of land for services, and as a U.E. Loyalist, but never received any.

Of the ancestry of the Youngs, Guy Henry Young, the Lieutenant's grandfather, who was born in Wellington, Nottinghamshire, Eng., and after emigrating to Long Island, N.Y., married a Scottish girl named Robinson, and two sons, George and Henry, were born. Two more sons, William and John, and two daughters, were born at Husack, N.Y., and here he spent the residue of his days, dying at the venerable age of ninety-three. Of his family, John died in infancy. William learned surveying, became a civil engineer and was one of a staff who surveyed the islands of Lake Ontario and made the first surveys of the Erie Canal. He became Gen. Wm.C. Young and died in New York City at the ripe age of ninety-four, about the year 1780. One daughter married Lampman, a relative of our Canadian poet. Another daughter Gleranna, married Jonathan Odell, the founder of Odelltown, Que., which obtained some notoriety in the war of 1812.

Henry, the second son, who was born March 10th, 1737, joined the British Army and served during the French and Indian wars. He received his discharge in 1761 and, returning to Husack, married Miss Mary Fletcher, a lady of Spanish extraction. Her father was a slave holder, carrying on extensive farming operations on the Patroon lands of the Vanrenselaer Estate. The mansion house of this estate, which was once the headquarters of Gen. Abercrombie, where tradition says "Yankee Doodle" was composed in derision of the rebel army, is still standing opposite Albany, N.Y. By this union with Miss Fletcher, Henry had two sons, Daniel and Henry, and of his four daughters, Sarah married John Millar. When the Revolutionary war broke out, Henry again joined the British forces. His last commission was dated November 16th, 1781. During the war he was wounded but once, slightly, in the lower side of his right hand. In the meantime his home at Husack had been raided by the rebels and stripped of everything, even the old Bible with the family record was carried away, and his eldest son, Daniel, lived with his grandfather Fletcher.

Young Daniel, when in his teens, determined to run away and find his father. He entrusted the secret to one of the Negroes, an old body servant of his grandmother's, and when a contingent of British scouts was near, the old darkey secretly provided him with a kit of supplies. He joined the scouts, and after suffering hardships from want of food and the menace of roving Indian bands, reached his father at Oswego. He enlisted with the British forces at once, learned military engineering and became Major Daniel Young. The remainder of the family continued to reside near their former home until the close of the war, when, with the first contingent to leave New York they journeyed to St. John, New Brunswick.

In 1780, Col. Henry Young was sent to Carleton Island with Major Ross to make some surveys and to build a fort. The party made preparations for erecting a fortification, the lines of which, it is said, are still plainly visible. Landing at a small inlet north of Cedar Island, Col. Henry Young was the first of the company to go on shore, and the fort was duly built in 1783 at Kingston, whither the British post at Carleton Island was soon moved.

Lieut. Henry, his second son, fought in several engagements in the revolutionary war, and on his retirement was promoted Major in the Militia. He helped build the first log cabin and accompanied his father in breaking the way for settlement in Prince Edward County.

As soon as Col. Young received the grant of land, he invited a brother officer, Lieut. McCartney, to accompany him and his son, Daniel. They set out and coasted up the Bay of Quinte to where Picton now stands. They landed at the foot of the hill on which Mt. Olivet cemetery is now situated. Here they left their canoe, and, packing their supplies, followed the Indian trail through what is now beautiful Glenwood Cemetery till they reached the summit of the escarpment at a point where Lake on the Mountain, Bay of Quinte and East Lake come into view. They continued westward across the forests of Hallowell and Athol townships and reached the head of East Lake at the "Indian Landing." Here they turned southward and followed the southern shore of East Lake, emerging at its outlet into Lake Ontario, amid sand dunes and groves of beautiful cedar, spruce and balsam. The two adventurers removed their shoes and stockings and waded across the outlet, then followed the beach to the north corner of West Point Cove, where they built a hut of cedar boughs and in this shelter spent the night. Next morning, steering toward the north-west, they reached the sand dunes of West Point and following West Lake Beach, crossing the outlet, reaching the present site of Wellington, where they again built a hut of cedar boughs, kindled their camp fire and spent the second night. Next morning they journeyed eastward along the north shore of West Lake, and at the point where that Lake nears the present site of Bloomfield, the explorers turned south toward East Lake, and regained the outward trail of the previous days, which led them back to where they had left their canoe. Finding the forests of Prince Edward County abounding with deer and other game and the lakes affording a plentiful supply of fish, the tall native woods and the dense forest indicating fertility of the soil, Col. Young chose a tract of land on the north side of East Lake for his future home, some five or six miles from the present site of the town of Picton. Having chosen the site, he now returned to Cataraqui for supplies, and immediately sent to St. John for his second son, Henry, who made his way to Kingston. In September, Col. Young procured a large boat, loaded it with needed supplies, and with his two sons, Daniel and Henry, paddled up the Bay, landing at the same place as on the previous trip. They cadged their supplies over the "Carrying Place" to the Indian Landing at the head of East Lake. Here they built a large canoe and with their supplies voyaged along the north shore of the lake for about four miles, landing at "Young's Homestead," now in possession of Mr. Malcolm Parks. Here they began a clearing and erected their first log cabin. This being completed, Col. Young, leaving his two sons, Daniel and Henry, to the mercies of a Canadian winter in the forest, and to proceed with needed improvements, returned to Cataraqui and joined his family at St. John during the winter. The following spring Col. Young and the family journeyed from St. John to Cataraqui. Leaving his four daughters at Fredericksburgh, he came on to Prince Edward County and to his intense joy found his two sons alive and well.

The summer was spent in clearing the land and making further improvements, and in October of 1784, he brought his daughters and established his family in their forest home. It will thus be seen that Col. Henry Young was the first white man who came to Prince Edward County and built the first house in the county. He and his descendants have played a large part in shaping the destiny and promoting the development of the County. It is interesting to note that the remains of these veterans are reposing on the pioneer trails which they followed when seeking homes one hundred and forty years ago; namely, at the foot of beautiful Glenwood cemetery in Picton repose the remains of Lieut. Henry Young, who died in 1812, in the family plot beneath a monument of appropriate design and suitably inscribed; while the remains of Col. Henry Young, who died in 1820, and those of Major Daniel Young, who died in 1850, rest side by side in the cemetery at Cherry Valley, not far from the site where they erected the rude log cabin of pioneer days. The original homestead of Col. Henry Young is still retained by direct descendants of Col. Young's family, being at present in possession of Mr. Malcolm Parks, lineal descendant of the sixth generation.

Major Daniel Young, Col. Henry's eldest son, married Dorcas Conger, daughter of the U.E.L. pioneer who built Conger's mill, near Picton. Of this union were born nine children. He settled at East Lake, near the old homestead, and died in 1850, aged 85 years.

Lieut. Henry Young, my maternal grandfather, who was in Sir John Johnson's regiment in the revolutionary war, was born at Husack, N.Y. After settlement in Prince Edward County, he married Nancy Dyer, daughter of Squire William Dyer, a pronounced U.E. Loyalist, whose property had been confiscated, his dwelling, barns and cattle burned, and his family banished from the United States. It was commonly reported that the rebels were in the habit of probing among the ashes and refuse of his burned buildings, remarking "here are the bones of old Bill Dyer", under the mistaken belief that he also had been consumed. But he had eluded them, and afterwards settled at East Lake. Lieut. Henry Young later inherited the homestead of his father at East Lake. Here a family of four sons, viz.: George, the father of the late Dr. George Young, Richard, William and Capt. John, and his two daughters, Mary and Gleranna, were born to him. He was again called to the service of his country in the war of 1812, but was cut off prematurely by illness in the Kingston Military Hospital.

When Edward, Duke of Kent, visited Upper Canada in 1792, and went as far as Niagara on this visit, in August, he made a call at Smith's Bay and met Col. Haldebrand Vallean, Lieut. Henry Young, and the other leading men of the settlement. This county had been named after him in Governor Simcoe's proclamation of July 16 in that year, dividing Upper Canada into counties.

The Osbornes of Sophiasburgh

The Osbornes were of English extraction. The first of the name to migrate to America, and the founder of the New England branch of the family, was Richard Osborne, of London, who came with the Pilgrim Fathers and settled at Windsor, Connecticut, where the name is still perpetuated. Branches of this family migrated to Ridgefield, Bergen County, New Jersey, where Jacobus Osborne, my great-grandfather, and four of his sons, Nathaniel, Richard, William, and Nehemiah, were born. Mrs. Maude Benson, the Canadian writer, has in her possession a pewter platter which was given to her by Jerome Osborne, of Osborne Hill, Herkimer County, N.Y. He claimed it was brought from London by this Richard Osborne, and from Connecticut by Rev. Amos Osborne, his grandfather, when this branch struck out into the New York wilderness.

In course of time, Jacobus Osborne and family migrated to Fulton County, New York, where another son, Jacobus, and two daughters, Abigail and Mary, were born. In common with other Loyalists, the family resolved to avail themselves of the British offer of lands and seek new homes in the Canadian wilderness. In 1785 they procured a Schenectady boat on which they loaded household goods and supplies, and from Johnstown voyaged up the Mohawk river, then up one of the smaller tributaries and portaged ten miles to the head waters of the Oswego River. My grandfather often told me that in going up these rapids the boat got out of their control when they were almost at the top, and slipping back, went all the way to the bottom of the rapids, and they had to do their work over again, although they were very tired. Then they passed down the Oswego River into Lake Ontario; then following the shore, reached Kingston; thence up the Bay of Quinte, rounding Thompson's Point to the eastward and landing on the north shore of the Long Reach in the township of Sophiasburgh. Here they camped for the first, and subsequent, nights under the shelter of a maple until their first cabin was built. I knew the spot well, my grandfather having frequently pointed out the landing-place--a rare bit of smooth, gravelly beach, and the maple under whose grateful shade I had often gambolled in my boyhood days. The location was an ideal one, attractive and wisely chosen. The escarpment of hills fronting the highlands of Sophiasburgh and skirting the north shore of the Long Reach, clothed from top to base in a forest of oaks and maples, sweeps back in a curve, enclosing a small but level plain, a miniature table land, studded here and there with groups of maples, sloping gently to the water's edge, the scene presented to the weary voyageurs a haven of refuge. Such was their introduction to the wilds of Canada, the scene of their future pioneer struggles, and here they pitched their tents. Having pre-empted a block of 400 acres in the first concession of Sophiasburgh, Lots 37, 38, 39 and 40, including that on which they had encamped, they built their temporary long cabin and began the task of hewing out a home.

Jacob Shorts, a pioneer neighbour who accompanied the Osborne family in their migration from Fulton County, N.Y., shared with them the hospitality of the sheltering maples on their first night in Canada. He left next morning taking with him his axe and blanket, and tramping westward, pre-empted 400 acres for himself and brother, Joh, who came later, locating next to No. 37, which Nathaniel Osborne, my grandfather, had chosen as his allotment. Jacob Shorts lived to the venerable age of ninety-six years, and became one of the most influential and prosperous farmers in Prince Edward County. He was elected one of the first councillors on the institution of District Councils in 1842. He married Sarah Cronk and from this union sprang a family of thirteen children, two sons and eleven daughters, the eldest and youngest being sons. John, his brother, died in the prime of manhood. He was killed by the roof of an outbuilding falling on him. The roof was covered with straw and had become sodden with rains.

As already stated, Jacobus Osborne had five sons, Nathaniel, Richard, William, Nehemiah and Jacobus, and two daughters, Abigail and Mary. Abigail married Jacob Benson. Mary married his brother, William Benson. Both settled at the well-known Benson's Hill. Nathaniel, eldest son of the pioneer, was born in Ridgefield, New Jersey, in 1763, and settled on Lot 37, Sophiasburgh. He married Sarah Campbell, daughter of Lieut. Alexander Campbell. Of this union, four sons, James C., Richard, Thomas C., and John C., were born, and four daughters, Elizabeth, Sarah Margaret, Jane and Fanny. He built the first log cabin on the shore of the Long Beach, where his children were born, and which became a sort of military post, stopping-place and headquarters for officers during the war of 1812. He served as Sergeant-Major in the war and had charge of transportation.

Richard, second son of the pioneer, was born in New Jersey and settled on Lot No. 36, Sophiasburgh. Later he moved to Pleasant Bay, a short distance west of Wellington. He served in the war of 1812, and his house at Pleasant Bay also became headquarters and rendezvous for officers during the war. For services rendered during the war he was granted 200 acres in the fourth concession of Améliasburgh, to which he removed later, where he was killed by a vicious bull in 1852, in his eighty-fourth year.

William, third son of the pioneer, also born in New Jersey, settled on Lot 39, first concession of Sophiasburgh, near his father and brothers, but later moved to Tyendinaga, where he left a long list of descendants.

Nehemiah, the fourth son of the pioneer, was also born in New Jersey, and settled in the second concession near Fish Lake. He was totally blind for many years previous to his death.

The pioneer, Jacobus Osborne, reached the age of eighty-one when death summoned him. In a remote, secluded corner overlooking a tiny cove near the original landing-place, Jacobus Osborne and his wife were buried, and their remains still repose side by side in a nameless grave, well-nigh forgotten. The resting place of these hardy toilers and wrestlers with the stern wilderness differs not from that of hundreds of others of Canada's U.E. Loyalist pioneers, whose remains scattered here and there in the beloved land of their adoption, rest in nameless sepulchres, marked by no tablet, honoured by no cenotaph raised to their memory, consecrated only by weary years of deprivation and toil, while singing birds and moaning winds and lapping waves alone unite to chant their lonely requiem.

Sophiasburgh and The Roblin Families

Sophiasburgh, long known as the Sixth Town, commemorates the name of Sophia, twelfth child and daughter of King George III. This township was settled by many U.E. Loyalists who came in response to Governor Simcoe's proclamation of February 7, 1792, but large numbers of U.E. Loyalists, who had come with Major VanAlstine's party to Adolphustown, later made their homes in Sophiasburgh. Grants of 200 acres of land were given to all who had borne arms in the British cause. It is said that many families on landing placed guns in the hands of their children in order to qualify for receiving grants. In this way extensive land grants were made in Sophiasburgh to Loyalists, who had located in Adolphustown, but which were never claimed, and rich holdings were often sold for a mere trifle, as Sophiasburgh was considered at that time to be a backwoods region.

The Roblin family came from New Jersey. Two brothers, John and Stephen, bore arms in the British cause, and John received a wound in his knee which crippled him for life. Both brothers and their families, Owen Roblin, Sr., and Jr., were with Major VanAlstine's party when they landed in Adolphustown, the 16th of June, 1784. John died soon after from the wound in his knee. His widow and family moved to Sophiasburgh in 1817, where she purchased 100 acres which included "Princess Sophia's Ravine," and a prospective mill site for $35.

The first part of the paper is devoted to a general discussion of the problem of the origin of life. It is shown that the problem is one of the most important and interesting in the history of science. The author discusses the various theories of the origin of life, and shows that the most probable one is the theory of spontaneous generation. This theory is based on the fact that life is everywhere, and that it is not possible to explain its existence by the theory of evolution. The author also discusses the possibility of life existing on other planets, and shows that it is very probable that life does exist elsewhere in the universe.

and built her own log house, paying for the whole in weaving, which must have been a severe task, more particularly on one of these old-time primitive hand looms. Mrs. Maude Benson, the Canadian writer, designates her, "Grand Old Pioneer Mother." "Princess Sophia's Ravine" is a historic gorge in Sophiasburgh on the Long Reach, about eight miles east of Picton, commonly known as Roblin's Mills, but so named in distinction to another Roblin's Mills in Ameliasburgh, built later by Owen Roblin, of the same family. Following closely on Widow Roblin's advent to "Princess Sophia's Ravine," Jesse Potter, another New Jersey U.E. Loyalist, came to Sophiasburgh, settling on the lot next to the Widow Roblin's west of the Ravine. Meantime, settlement increasing, the nearest mills being at Napanee and Congers, viz., at the two ends of the Long Reach, the demand for bread stuffs became very urgent. In 1817 the enterprising Widow Roblin built a small grist mill located about half way down the Ravine, an unpretentious log structure, with one run of stones. For a number of years the mill was patronized to its capacity, and filled a great want in the neighbourhood. The old mill was used latterly as a cooper's shop, and was still standing in 1843, but finally disappeared, and even the situation had been forgotten. Later, when the site was pointed out by myself, the only person living who could confirm the location was the late Jas. P. Roblin (father of Sir Rodmond P. Roblin), who died at the venerable age of ninety-two. On the death of Widow Roblin, she left this valuable property and desirable situation to her son, Philip Roblin, Sr., who inherited much of his mother's energy. After her death, Philip discarded the old log house and built a handsome frame residence. He also built the second grist mill, a more pretentious frame structure, with two run of stones, and adequate equipment, a few yards further down stream than the old log mill. This was the beginning of a rapidly increasing patronage which continued until Philip, Sr., died, leaving five sons, Philip Jr., Owen, Jr., Levi, John P., and Caleb, and three daughters, Phoebe, who married Mr. Rogers and settled in Whitby, Mary, who married Wm. Pott, who died soon after, and Keziah, who married Squire George Drury in Sophiasburgh. Philip Jr., inherited the homestead and estate; John P. was elected M.P.P., and for years held a prominent position in the Upper Canada Legislature; Caleb was drowned while crossing the ice from Marshfront to the Indian Reserve; Owen Roblin, Jr., built the mill in Ameliasburgh, long known as Seventh Town.

The power dam of the mills at "Princess Sophia's Ravine" was located entirely on the adjoining farm of Jesse Potter, the western corner of the dam approaching within four feet of Mr. Potter's barn and flooding a large area of his reserve woodlands. In consequence there were bitter contentions and annual lawsuits between Mr. Potter and Philip Roblin, Sr., which continued many years, but which proved futile, and Mr. Roblin succeeded in maintaining his mill privileges. Finally these rivalries ceased, when Philip Roblin, Sr., passed away at a ripe old age, and a large concourse of friends and neighbours saw his remains carried from the old red mansion to the little cemetery on the hillside, of which event I have a recollection as a witness. Jesse Potter soon followed, at the advanced age of eighty-three years, which event also I remember. Standing beside the coffin, I was just tall enough to see his stern and pallid features over the edge of the coffin.

The former rivals are now quietly reposing side by side, each in his narrow bed, which was once his own property, not by design, but because the little cemetery is just on the line between the two farms, at the foot of the Ravine, near the Bay.

On the decease of Philip Roblin, Sr., Philip, Jr., his son, who died in 1899, inherited the estate and succeeded to the business. Soon after his father's death he built the third grist mill at the head of the Ravine, near the bridge where the road crosses,--a fine, three storey modern structure, with over-shot water wheel, seventeen feet in diameter, with three run of stones. He also erected a large storehouse just across the road, which was ultimately connected with the mill by an overhead gangway. He likewise added a complete saw mill equipment to the lower mill, operated by both steam and water power, and in various ways enlarged and increased it till the milling business here expanded to one of the most extensive in Canada. Large consignments of flour were for many years shipped regularly from these mills to foreign lands, until Roblin's Mills became for a time a leading commercial centre in the country, and a considerable lake depot, with storehouses, shops and docks for convenience of shipping.

Levi Roblin, one of the brothers previously mentioned, built a saw mill at the foot of the Ravine near the Bay, and likewise a private residence. The former was equipped with an old-fashioned upright saw, worked by a water wheel and crank, and which for many years did the principal share of custom sawing, and was the only saw mill in an extensive region. Its persistent measured beats were an object of interest to youthful eyes that watched its movements by the hour.

The only approach to the little cemetery from the east was under the flume of the saw mill, then over the brook and up the hillside. On numerous occasions it has been my melancholy privilege to witness funeral processions bearing their precious burden with trembling footsteps, carefully choose boulders in crossing the stream, and then make their way up the hillside to the cemetery. Originally a private burial plot, the first to occupy a place in this primitive hillside cemetery was Widow Roblin, with her sons, grandsons and numerous family relatives, each grave marked by a suitable monument. In time, however, it became a general burial place for the neighbourhood, and many of the early inhabitants in a widely extended area found a final resting-place in this sequestered and romantic abode of the dead.

I visited the familiar scene in 1914, and to my amazement the Ravine had become literally a desert. Where once stood three grist mills, two saw mills, two private residences, a merchant's shop, an extensive storehouse and dock, all have been dismantled and not a vestige remains. The fine mill at the head of the Ravine has entirely disappeared,--not even a stone of the foundation remains; in fact none of the locations can be discerned except by those familiar with the former site. The dam is obliterated, and the ground devoted to grain crops. Where once were witnessed scenes of industry and commercial prosperity, nothing remains to awaken the memory but "beetling cliffs, a hillside cemetery and a purling brook." One is forcibly reminded of Macaulay's New Zealander, seated on a broken arch of London Bridge, surveying the ruins of a city.

Bay of Quinte Ferries

At the extreme southwesterly point of Adolphustown, the Bay of Quinte is quite narrow, and from the point across to the Stone Mills, built by Major VanAlstine in Marysburgh, and the Lake on the Mountain, just above the mills, a ferry has been maintained from the earliest times, or since the mills were built. Below the point, toward Glen Island and Kingston, the Bay is known as the Adolphustown Reach. From Picton eastward along the Sophiasburgh shore, extending beyond Green Point toward Deseronto,--a stretch of about twenty miles, the Bay gets the name of the Long Reach.

Likewise, between Thompson's Point and Nicholas Wessel's farm on the Sophiasburgh shore, in the early years, a ferry was maintained for some time called Wessel's Ferry. The roadway up the long steep hill from the landing terminated in a spacious lawn, about an acre in extent, on which at one time stood a handsome frame church, painted white, capable of holding about four hundred people, and known as Wessel's Church, of the Methodist Episcopal denomination. Among certain money grants to Sophiasburgh in 1820, it is on record that a grant of $100 was appropriated toward opening a road from Wessel's Ferry through to Demorestville Mills. A quarterly communion service held in 1844, attended by an unusually large congregation, when the Rev. George Jones preached a sermon from that well-known text in which Job's wife offers her husband a peculiar, if not sarcastic, word of consolation, was about the last gathering held in the historic Wessel's Church, which has since been dismantled and torn down, leaving neither stick nor stone, and not even a trace of the foundation. It is just a grassy plain flanked by a beautiful grove; nought else remains to show that a sacred edifice had once stood on the deserted plain.

About a mile farther east on the same shore in Scanlon's Ferry, for years maintained to cross at the junction of Hay Bay and the Long Reach. At the landing was a commodious warehouse, while the roadway up the steep bank terminated in Scanlon's general store on the brow of the hill, where a considerable country trade was transacted in the early days. The erection of the warehouse at the landing, the foundations of which extended partly over the water, furnished a drama of considerable interest to the community for a long period afterward. I often heard my father and my grandfather describe the incident. They were present at the "raising", with a large concourse of men, and among them was a character known as "Devil" Tom Dorland. He was not really a bad man, but had a reputation for doing eccentric and risky tricks. When the men had raised the outer heavy plate to its position on the main posts, it was found to be wrong end on, and had to be turned. The plate was balanced on the centre post preparatory to being swung, when "Devil" Tom insisted on getting astride one end of the big plate, and in that perilous position, sixty feet above the water, he swung around with the plate to the consternation of the crowd. The warehouse has long been dismantled, and every vestige of it has vanished. Not a stone of the foundation remains to show its former site. Portions of the masonry which formed the artificial roadway up the steep bank have become disintegrated, and are rapidly crumbling away and sliding down the embankment.

Another ferry, half a mile farther east, was Hazzard's Ferry, maintained intermittently across the Long Reach to the Hay Bay shore. Here also was Hazzard's sawmill, worked by a somewhat puny water power.

One and a half miles still farther east is "Princess Sophia's Ravine", or Roblin's Ferry, crossing the Long Reach to Casey's Point, and maintained since 1817.

Two miles farther east, on Lot No. 43, is Clark's Ferry, or Clark's Crossing originally known as "Job Bower's Ferry and Potashery Works," maintained since 1785. It was called Clark's Ferry after a family of that name, living on the Adolphustown side. It was long known as Bedford's Ferry, from a man who kept a store on the Sophiasburgh side. Bedford moved to Belleville, and was succeeded by Munroe, when for some time it was called Munroe's Ferry. Of late years it has been known as Cole's Ferry.

Military Activities of the Earliest Years.

In memory of the military projects of Kingston in its early days, on this occasion of the city's 250th anniversary, I recall my numerous military ancestors by way of contrast with public affairs of the present day, and their frequent and intimate connection with those projects.--two great grandfathers, Col. Henry Young, who built Fort Henry, and Lieut. Alexander Campbell, who came with Capt. Grass' first contingent of settlers; one great-uncle, Major Daniel Young, military engineer, 1780-85; and two grandfathers, Lieut. Henry Young, who died in Kingston military hospital, December, 1812, and Sergeant Major Nathaniel Osborne, who was master of transportation in the Kingston-Mackinaw relief expedition, 1814.

Sergeant Major Nathaniel Osborne, my grandfather, and Sergeant John Lowe told me of many incidents in the war times of 1812-14. While serving with his company, and doing garrison duty awaiting orders, Sergeant Major Osborne was an actor in an amusing but pathetic incident, illustrative of war-time privations, which soldiers are often compelled to undergo. Sergeant Lowe said that on one occasion the garrison grew short of provisions, supplies having failed, through some mishap, to come to hand. In this extremity, the garrison officer one morning sent out Sergeant Lowe with a squad to forage for something to eat. They went up among the cedars which at that time covered the site of Frontenac Park of the present day, used even then as a military cemetery, and found the skeleton of a horse.--nothing left but the bones. Securing the head, they took it down to the barracks, put it into the big cauldron and made a good pot of soup, which everyone relished, as they had been on short rations. It was a fortunate relief; Sergeant Lowe remarked that it was "the sweetest morsel he had ever tasted," and my grandfather confirmed the story.

The expedition for the relief of Mackinaw left Kingston, after due preparation, in the latter part of March, 1814. It consisted of a contingent of one hundred and sixty picked men, with twenty artillerymen and twenty men of the Royal Navy, all under the command of Lieut.-Col. Robert McDonall, with Capt. Andrew Bulger in subordinate command. They proceeded by the Danforth Road, through Ernesttown, Bath, Fredericksburgh and Adolphustown, halting for three nights in the latter settlement, where the soldiers found quarters in the old Quaker meeting-house, a building that has disappeared. Here was the home of Lieut. Alexander Campbell, grandfather of the commissary, Thomas G. Ridout, whose mother was Mary Campbell. From Adolphustown the contingent crossed the Bay of Quinte at Job Bower's Ferry, known later as Clark's Crossing, climbed the long hill of the Sophiasburgh escarpment, and halted for the night at the home of the transportation master, Sergeant-Major Nathaniel Osborne, a pioneer log house of eighteen by twenty-one feet, on Lot No. 37. The heavy chest of gold coins and other valuables was placed in the middle of the floor, in front of the open fireplace, and the soldiers stretched about on the floor to sleep, the commissary, whose uncle owned the house, occupying the only bed in the room, while the family climbed a rude ladder to the loft and slept on straw. Often I have heard my grandfather tell how the officers played cards on the chest of treasure through the whole night, while the rank and file either slept on the floor in front of the blazing fire, or camped in tents outside. The expedition started next morning, and had reached "Princess Sophia's Ravine" or Roblin's Gorge, about a mile westward, when something went wrong with the drawing gear of the team of horses driven by Adam

The contingent succeeded in mounting the famous Benson's Hill, which proved to be a difficult task, as the hill was not then what it is now. In due time they reached Pleasant Bay, and halted for one night at the home of Richard Osborne, one of the contingent, west of Wellington, whose house was used as a headquarters during the war. From here they passed on to the Carrying Place, where they camped another night in two feet of snow. During the night my grandfather awoke, and hearing something like water trickling in the snow, he investigated and found that one of the soldiers had crawled into the shadow of one of the barrels of rum, tapped it, got all he wanted, then either lost the plug or forgot to replace it, and left the rum running.

One of the "Graves of a Household".

Many persons are familiar with the pathetic verses by Mrs. Hemans, bearing the above title, but it seems not to be so generally known that in the poem she is describing the graves of her own brothers and sister. When this is known, it adds much additional pathos to the verses.

The verse of interest to Canadians reads thus:-

" One, 'midst the forests of the West,
By a dark stream is laid, --
The Indian knows his place of rest,
Far in the cedar-shade."

The grave is that of her brother, Major Claude Browne, who died in Kingston several years before her own death in 1835. There is a reference to Major Browne's grave in the Toronto Saturday Globe of November 22, 1902, in a sketch by Leman A. Guild, in which he locates it in Frontenac Park, Kingston. He omitted in his sketch to say that Frontenac Park was first used as a military cemetery, and was originally covered with a dense grove of cedar trees. (There are, however, signs of a stream only at the lower, or St. Paul's cemetery, where many soldiers were also buried.) In my boyhood days I was fairly familiar with Old Kingston, and seventy-five years ago the cedar grove was still there. It was also my privilege to meet at Fort Erie, fifty-five years ago, the second son of Mrs. Hemans, the poetess, Mr. Claude Hemans, who was then British Consul at Buffalo, N.Y., and, having received several threatening letters about the time of the Fenian Raid, thought it advisable to take up his residence at Fort Erie, where he lived in a large house at the corner of Queen and Niagara streets, which was afterward converted into the Queen's Hotel.

Mr. E. Claude Young,
Wellington, Ont.

Dear Mr. Young:

I think I have news for you! I have been to see Dr. Demorest, and have brought the Young (Jung) book home with me. I have been going through it and have come up with some very interesting information. To put you in the picture I shall outline it as follows:

1. I took the information supplied by the Census of 1851:

John Young age 86 born 1765-6	wife Susan age 83 born 1767-8	son of Frederick Fox U E
John, Jr. age 60 born 1791-2	wife Sarah (Walt) age 52 born 1799-1800

2. On looking through the Young book, I found nothing conclusive until I looked in the appendix. Here I found the church records, a copy of which I attach. I plotted these as follows, assuming that all references to Youngs placed them in the same family, with a few exceptions. I also assumed that the Peter and Margaretha Young, sponsors for Pieter, son of Pieter, was the grandfather--an old established custom whereby the grandparents sponsor the firstborn. The result is given as follows:

Pieter Young wife Margaretha both alive in 1791
Catharina	Anna	Elisabeth	Johannes	Pieter
mar. Johannes Ecker	mar. Adam Leninge	mar. Johannes Lieb	mar. Susanna	mar. 1st Elisabeth	mar. 2nd ? Diodema
children	children	children	children	children
1. Catharina b. 9.12.1773	1. Anna b. 20-9-1787	1. Catharina b. 23.1.1789	1. Pieter b. 1.6.1791	1. Maria Engel b. 14.4.1794	4. Peter b. 4.7.1806
2. Maria b. 11.9.1776			2. Johannes b. 4.1.1793	2. Jacob b. 10.10.1802	5. John b. 10.7.1804
			3. Elisabeth b. 4.11.1795	3. Elisabeth b. 26.8.1805

Note: The other Youngs I have omitted, as the book shows that they belong to another branch of the family.

Note also that the last child of John and Susanna was born in 1795. This may indicate that John and Susanna removed to Canada shortly thereafter

3. I then went back to the book and looked over the earlier Young lines to see if I could find anything to correspond to the above schematic representation. I think I did, as follows:

Hendrick Jung wife Anna Margaretha (possibly Timmerman)
Came to America from the Palatinate in 1710
Served in Col. Nicholson's expedition against Canada in 1711.
Migrated to Schoharie about 1712.
Removed to the Mohawk country in 1722, returning to Schoharie in 1732.

Mrs A. J. Peers
Fresno, Calif.

Dear Mrs Peers

Your very welcome letter of the 27th ultimo came to hand Thursday and I wish to thank you most sincerely for it.

Attempts to establish facts relating to our ancestors are extremely difficult today for different reasons. First, and most important, lack of official government records, (here in Ontario prior to 1858, over in Pennsylvania prior to 1889), second apparent inability to locate old family bibles, and finally the indifference of later generations on who their grandparents were, whence they came, and when they came to Canada.

After considerable fruitless research, I turned to the press (Fresno Weekly World) and I am very pleased over the fact my appeal has brought forth three responses, two of which were relating to the Taten family, and yours to the Simmons.

Yesterday I just had to discuss your letter with relatives over in Hastings county. One was, like myself, a great granddaughter of Stephen Warner Simmons, who was always known in his adopted district, as Warner Simmons. He was born in Ernesttown township (between Bath and Fess-) in 1807 or 1812 and he married an Ernesttown girl Sarah Alice Brack born in 1810.

The other relative, is the widow of Wallace Derwin Simmons, a grandson of one Davis Simmons and Lucinda Denyes Simmons each of whom were born in Ernesttown, and moved shortly after marriage to Farrow in Hastings county. Mrs Simmons recalls hearing her father-in-law talk about his uncles Sheldon and Nelson and WARNER. Her son down in Quebec has an old Simmons family bible and I am writing him regarding what is shown as to his great grandfather Davis' parents.

I am quite pleased to say that I am continuing my research and will be very happy to keep you advised on results.

Also I wish to reiterate my appreciation for your letter.

QUEBEC, P.Q.

Dear Mr Simmons

Yesterday afternoon Mrs Young and I called on your mother at Foxboro and she suggested that I write you.

While I cannot say I remember you prior to our leaving for the West in 1897, I do well recall your father and grandfather, as I spent my vacations visiting my grandparents (Spencer S. Sloan) across the road from your grandfather Ira.

Since coming down here in mid-1954 to live, I became interested in the genealogy of ancestors of both mother and father.

As luck would have it, ran into trouble trying to establish the parents, grandparents, whence and when they came to Canada of my great grandparents Young and Simmons. Maybe you can help with the latter. At least your good mother thinks you have an old family bible that might help.

Tracing back your family I find that Davis Simmons married Lucinda Teryes, both born at Ernesttown, and then they moved out into Thurlow twp. Their family was:-

Phillip	born in 1844,	died unmarried
James	born in 1846	went to Bay City, Mich.
Eliza Jare	born in 1848	married M. Gordanier had two boys, Ira and Herman,	and two girls	? ?
John Davis	born in 1851	went to Michigan in 1870
Almira		married Murney Alcombrack
	had Davis (died young), Wilnot and 1 girl		? ?
William Ira	born in 1856	married Maria Smith
	had 2 boys, Wallace Derwin	1878-1939
	Freeman	1879-1880
Mary Ann		married John Cannon, Chatham, Ont
	had 1 boy and 2 girls		? ? ?

Wallace Derwin Simmons married Victoria Brownson and they raised a son Ira Derwin, and a daughter Grace.

My great grandparents were Stephen Warner Simmons and Hannah Alcombrack Simmons, both born at or near Ernesttown and after marriage settled on the 7th concession of Thurlow, Hastings county. Their family:-

[Faint, illegible handwritten text, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page.]

This week I received a letter from a Mrs Peers, Ferndale, Calif., who is a granddaughter of Susannah Maria Simmons who married James Edward Hawley, near Bath. She was born 1813 and died 1847. But note this:- she had five brothers, Davis, Sheldon, Nelson, Bigo and Warner. The Davis could have been your great grandfather, and the Warner could have been my great grandfather. Another item Mrs Peers mentioned was she came across a land record from PHILIP SIMMONS and she thinks it might have been the father of Susannah and her brothers.

The grandparents of Sir Gilbert Parker, noted author, are said to have been George Simmons and Mary Gardineer Simmons who were married in South Fredericksburg on May 24th 1808

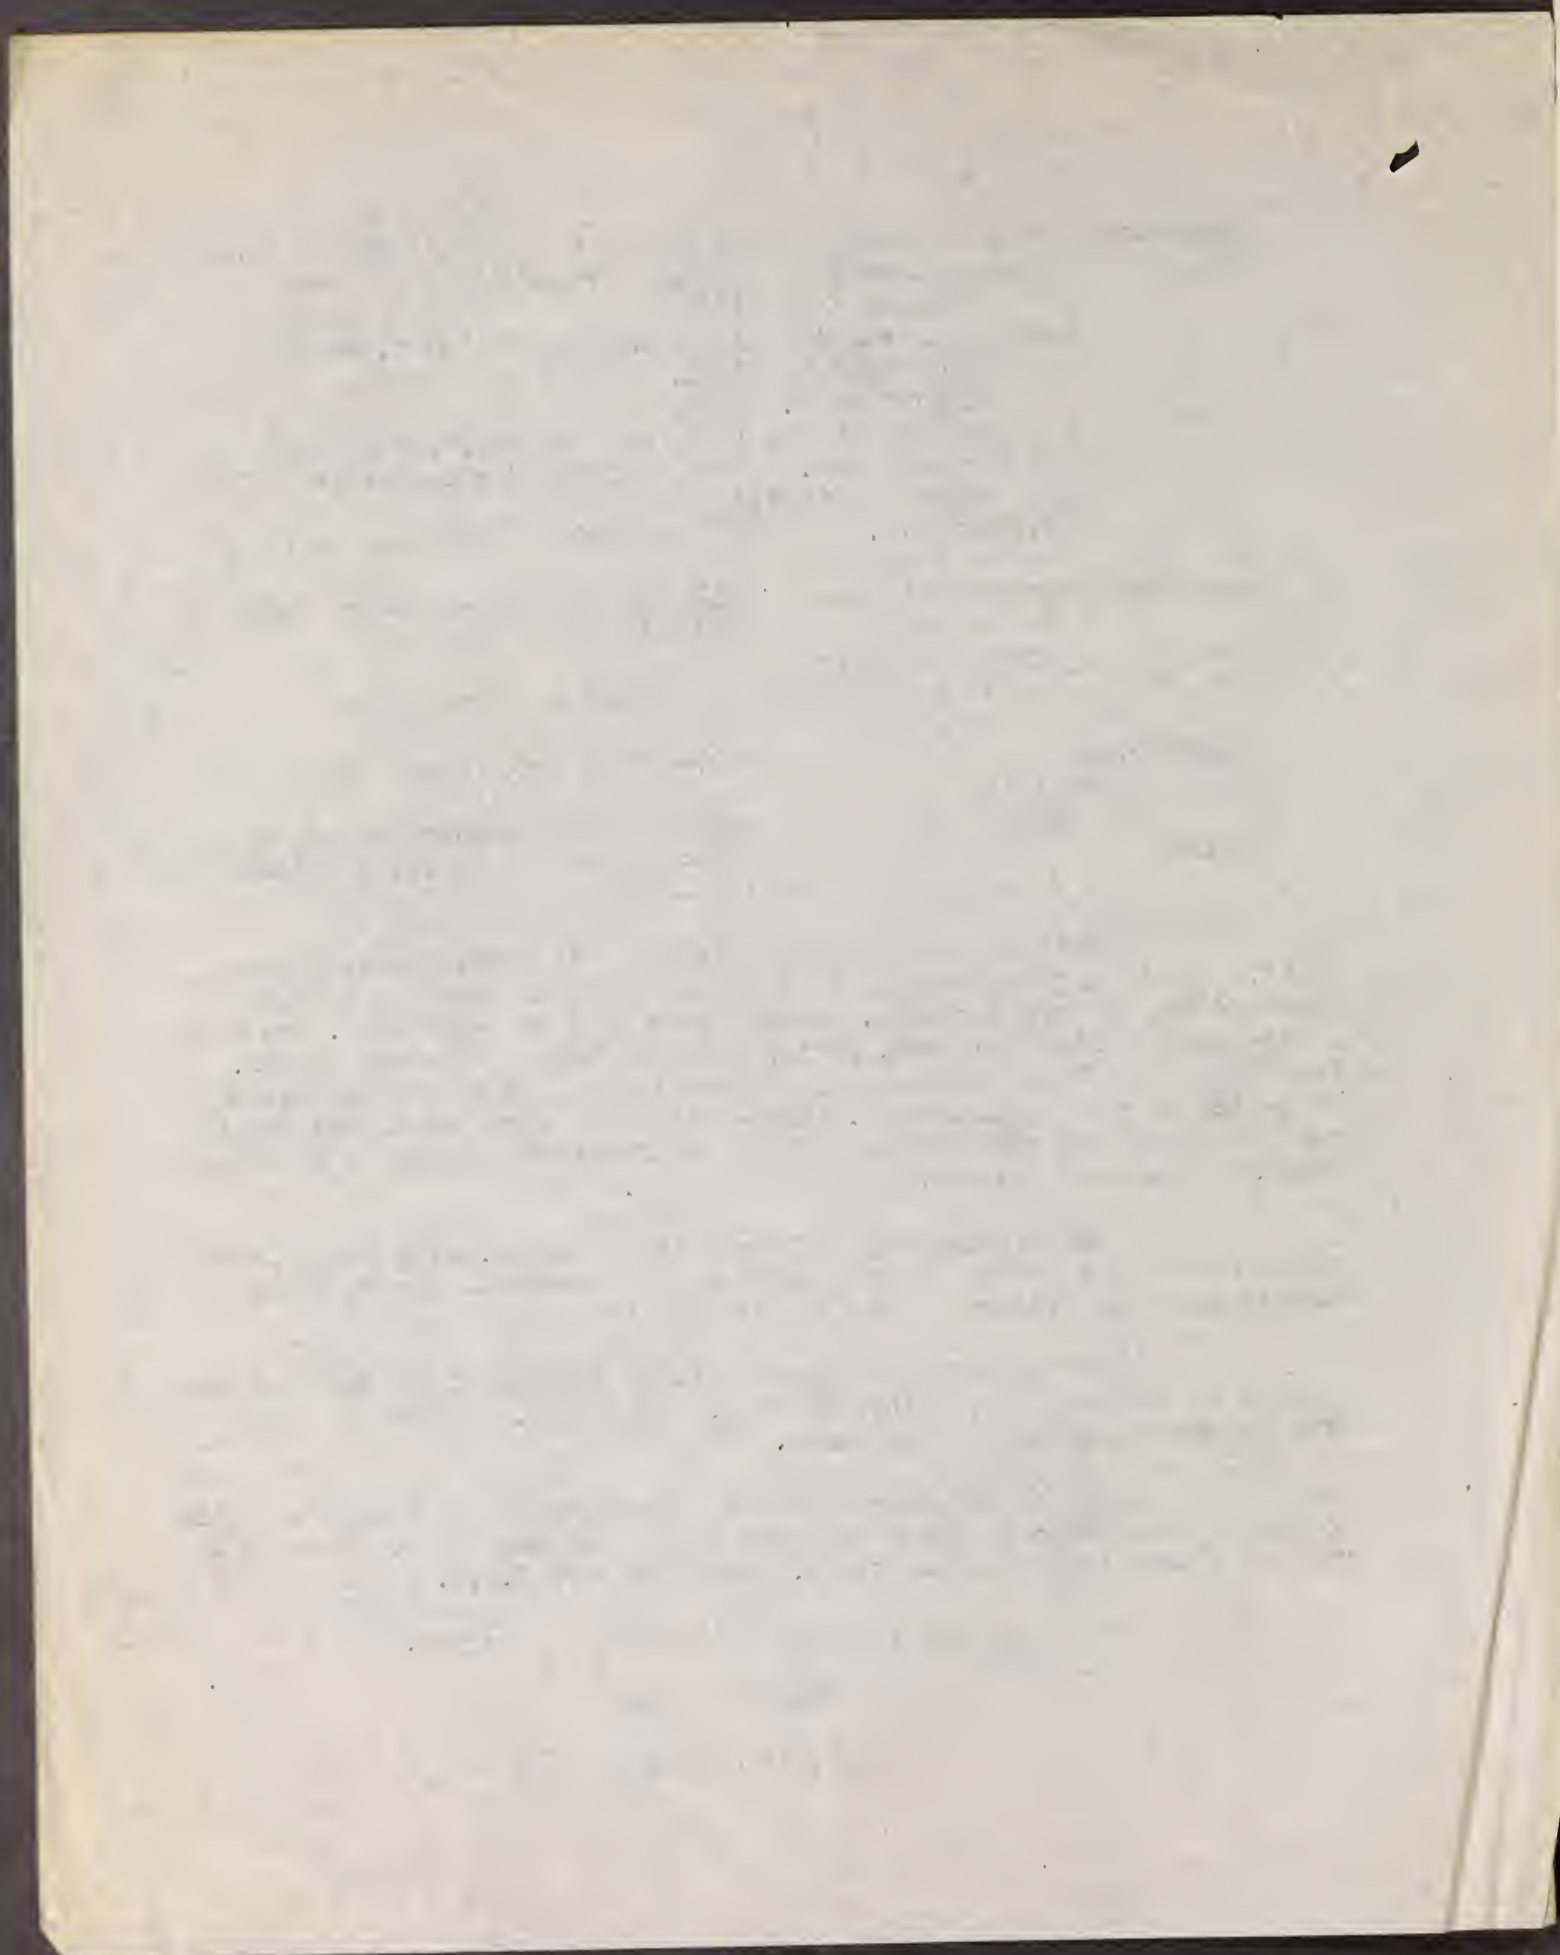

In the volume "Pioneer Life on the Bay of Quinte" are the records of two families, Milton Simmons, and John M. Simmons, who came from Dutchess county, New York state.

All of the foregoing only increases my interest and desire to dig out the history of our branches of the Simmons clans. It could be you and I came from the same stock. And they were U.S.L. pioneers.

Will be very interested to hearing from you.

Sincerely yours

C. Claude Young

Military Activities of the Earliest Years

In memory of the military projects of Kingston in its early days, on this occasion of the city's 250th anniversary, I recall my numerous military ancestors by way of contrast with public affairs of the present day, and their frequent and intimate connection with those projects,--two great grandfathers, Col. Henry Young, who built Fort Henry, and Lieut. Alexander Campbell, who came with Capt. Grass' first contingent of settlers; one great-uncle, Major Daniel Young, military engineer, 1780-85; and two grandfathers, Lieut. Henry Young, who died in Kingston military hospital, December, 1812, and Sergeant Major Nathaniel Osborne, who was master of transportation in the Kingston-Mackinaw relief expedition 1814.

Sergeant Major Nathaniel Osborne, my grandfather, and Sergeant John Lowe told me of many incidents in the war times of 1812-14. While serving with his company, and doing garrison duty awaiting orders, Sergeant Major Osborne was an actor in an amusing but pathetic incident, illustrative of war time privations, which soldiers are often compelled to undergo. Sergeant Lowe said that on one occasion the garrison grew short of provisions, supplies having failed, through some mishap, to come to hand. In the extremity, the garrison officer one morning sent out Sergeant Lowe with a squad to forage for something to eat. They went up among the cedars which at that time covered the site of Frontenac Park of the present day, used even then as a military cemetery, and found the skeleton of a horse,--nothing left but the bones. Securing the head, they took it down to the barracks, put it into the big cauldron and made a good pot of soup, which everyone relished, as they had been on short rations. It was a fortunate relief; Sergeant Lowe remarked that it was "the sweetest morsel he had ever tasted," and my grandfather confirmed the story.

The expedition for the relief of Mackinaw left Kingston, after due preparation, in the latter part of March, 1814. It consisted of a contingent of one hundred and sixty picked men, with twenty artillerymen and twenty men of the Royal Navy, all under the command of Lieut.-Col. Robert McDouall, with Capt. Andrew Bulger in subordinate command. They proceeded by the Danforth Road, through Ernesttown, Bath, Fredericksburgh and Adolphustown, halting for three nights in the latter settlement, where the soldiers found quarters in the old Quaker meeting-house, a building that has disappeared. Here was the home of Lieut. Alexander Campbell, grandfather of the commissary, Thomas G. Ridout, whose mother was Mary Campbell. From Adolphustown the contingent crossed the Bay of Quinte at Job Bower's Ferry, known later as Clark's Crossing, climbed the long hill of the Sophiasburgh escarpment, and halted for the night at the home of the transportation master, Sergeant-Major Nathaniel Osborne, a pioneer log house of eighteen by twenty-one feet, on Lot No. 37. The heavy chest of gold coins and other valuables was placed in the middle of the floor, in front of the open fireplace, and the soldiers stretched about on the floor to sleep, the commissary, whose uncle owned the house, occupying the only bed in the room, while the family climbed a rude ladder to the loft and slept on the straw. Often I have heard my grandfather tell how the officers played cards on the chest of treasure through the whole night, while the rank and file either slept on the floor in front of the blazing fire, or camped in tents outside. The expedition started next morning, and had reached "Princess Sophia's Ravine," or Roblin's Gorge, about a mile westward, when something went wrong with the drawing gear of the team of horses driven by Adam Shortt. Getting too near the ravine, the entire load--team, driver and all--tumbled over into the Gorge, killing one of the horses and breaking one kneecap of the driver.

The Contingent succeeded in mounting the famous Benson's Hill, which proved to be a difficult task, as the hill was not then what it is now. In due time they reached Pleasant Bay, and halted for one night at the home of Richard Osborne, one of the contingent, west of Wellington, whose house was used as a headquarters during the war. From here they passed on to the Carrying Place, where they camped another night in two feet of snow. During the night my grandfather awoke, and hearing something like water trickling in the snow, he investigated and found that one of the soldiers had crawled into the shadow of one of the barrels of rum, tapped it, got all he wanted, then either lost the plug or forgot to replace it, and left the rum running.

Many persons are familiar with the pathetic verses by Mrs. Hermans, bearing the above title, but it seems not to be so generally known that in the poem she is describing the graves of her own brothers and sister. When this is known, it adds much additional pathos to the verses.

Dear Doctor

What a pleasant Yule-tide surprise that reached me late last week. Although many times I had thought of writing you and asking a lot of questions, I resisted the impulse by thinking the chances were many that your time was being well taken up by unwell patients.

By a very peculiar co-incidence about a week before Christmas I received a letter from a Mrs Ida CATON Montgomery a granddaughter of Martha Caton and Lucian Ketcheson. Martha was the youngest child of Sarah Ketcheson and Thomas Caton

Most important item in Mrs Montgomery's letter was there was an old family bible around with the Caton-Ketcheson family tree. This bible is in the hands of her son and I am hoping to catch up with it shortly. Mrs Montgomery who had my letter in the Napanee BEAVER brought to her attention, is presently visiting a daughter in Buffalo---not likely to be back to Odessa before spring.

And now my cup runneth over, with the added details you so kindly hunted up and passed on to me. Naturally there still are gaps in the complete picture but at least I am beginning to feel I am making progress

Based on the known birth year of Sarah Ketcheson, 1800, and calculated age of Thomas (18) when his mother deeded land to him, plus the six children before her death in 1834, I am making a guess that the oldest child William was born in the early 1820's. That being somewhere near the mark would definitely rule him out as being the Willie Caton my parents visited frequently when I was around ten years of age, or in the early 1890's. My guess is the William Caton or that Thomas Caton was the father of the Willie Caton we knew. When the bible and family tree turn up I will likely get it cleared Am rather disappointed over inability as yet to trace the families of my great grandparents, Stephen Warner Simmons and Hannah GARPISON Alcombrack but am not giving up, having a feeling that one of these days a lead will pop up. After all the Simmons clan was quite extensive in Ernesttown around the end of the 1790's and early 1800's.

May I repeat in closing the words below, Season's Greetings

And Thank you

Sincerely
E. Claude

Knowing that you have assembled many records of pioneer families of the District, and believing your records of the Sloan and Primmer families are not too complete, it occurred to me that you might appreciate have a copy of the family tree I have been able to put together.

While the enclosed record is as nearly up to date as I have been able to make it, there still remain a few soft spots that I am hoping to bolster up. The James Alexander Sloan family has many spots that should be filled in, but for some reason two members of the family residing in Toronto appear reluctant to give. When spring comes around I may be able to persuade them otherwise.

I am still plugging away on the Young family. The 1871 census showed John Young, wife Sarah, and four daughters (of the six). John is shown as from United States of German ancestry.

Again, many many thanks

Yours

Also working away on the KETCHESON tree---which is just about as large a forest as one wants to get into

W.C.Mikel, Esq;
Mayor of Belleville.

My dear Mr.Mikel:-

I am enclosing herewith, a copy of the memoir of my great-great-grandfather, Lieut Col Henry Young, the original of which my sister and I left with you for a short while at the time of the celebration last June. I trust it will not be too late for the Book of Remembrance; have delayed sending it, endeavoring to ascertain the date of the birth of Daniel Young, which is not clear in the old paper. It is possible we may be able to make certain of this in a few days, and if so I will advise you, that it may be inserted where it belongs in this copy, but fearing to be late, I am sending this along anyway.

Daniel Young, elder son of Col Young, was my great-great grandfather, his daughter Rosannah married my grandfather William Emerson, a young Irishman who taught school and boarded with the family at the East Lake homestead for three years. They were married by Stephen Conger, J.P. my grandmother's uncle, after whom my father, Stephen Conger Emerson, was named.

As to your request for the name of the original U.E.L ancestor, of my mother, Mrs S.C.Emerson, (Melissa Way) I regret to say we are not quite positive; she is decended from the Dutch Loyalist Ways, who settled in Sophiasburg, her father was Sidney Way of Hungerford, her grandfather John R.Way, who was born in Sophiasburg, and was one of the very early settlers in the township of Hungerford. The book published on the Loyalists of Prince Edward County, some years ago, states that John Way was the father of John R Way, but from stories my grandfather Sidney used to tell us, I believe John Way was a brother to my mothers ancestor, and came to Canada later, not as a Loyalist, for he was an ardent admirer of the United States; but because his brothers had all come before him.

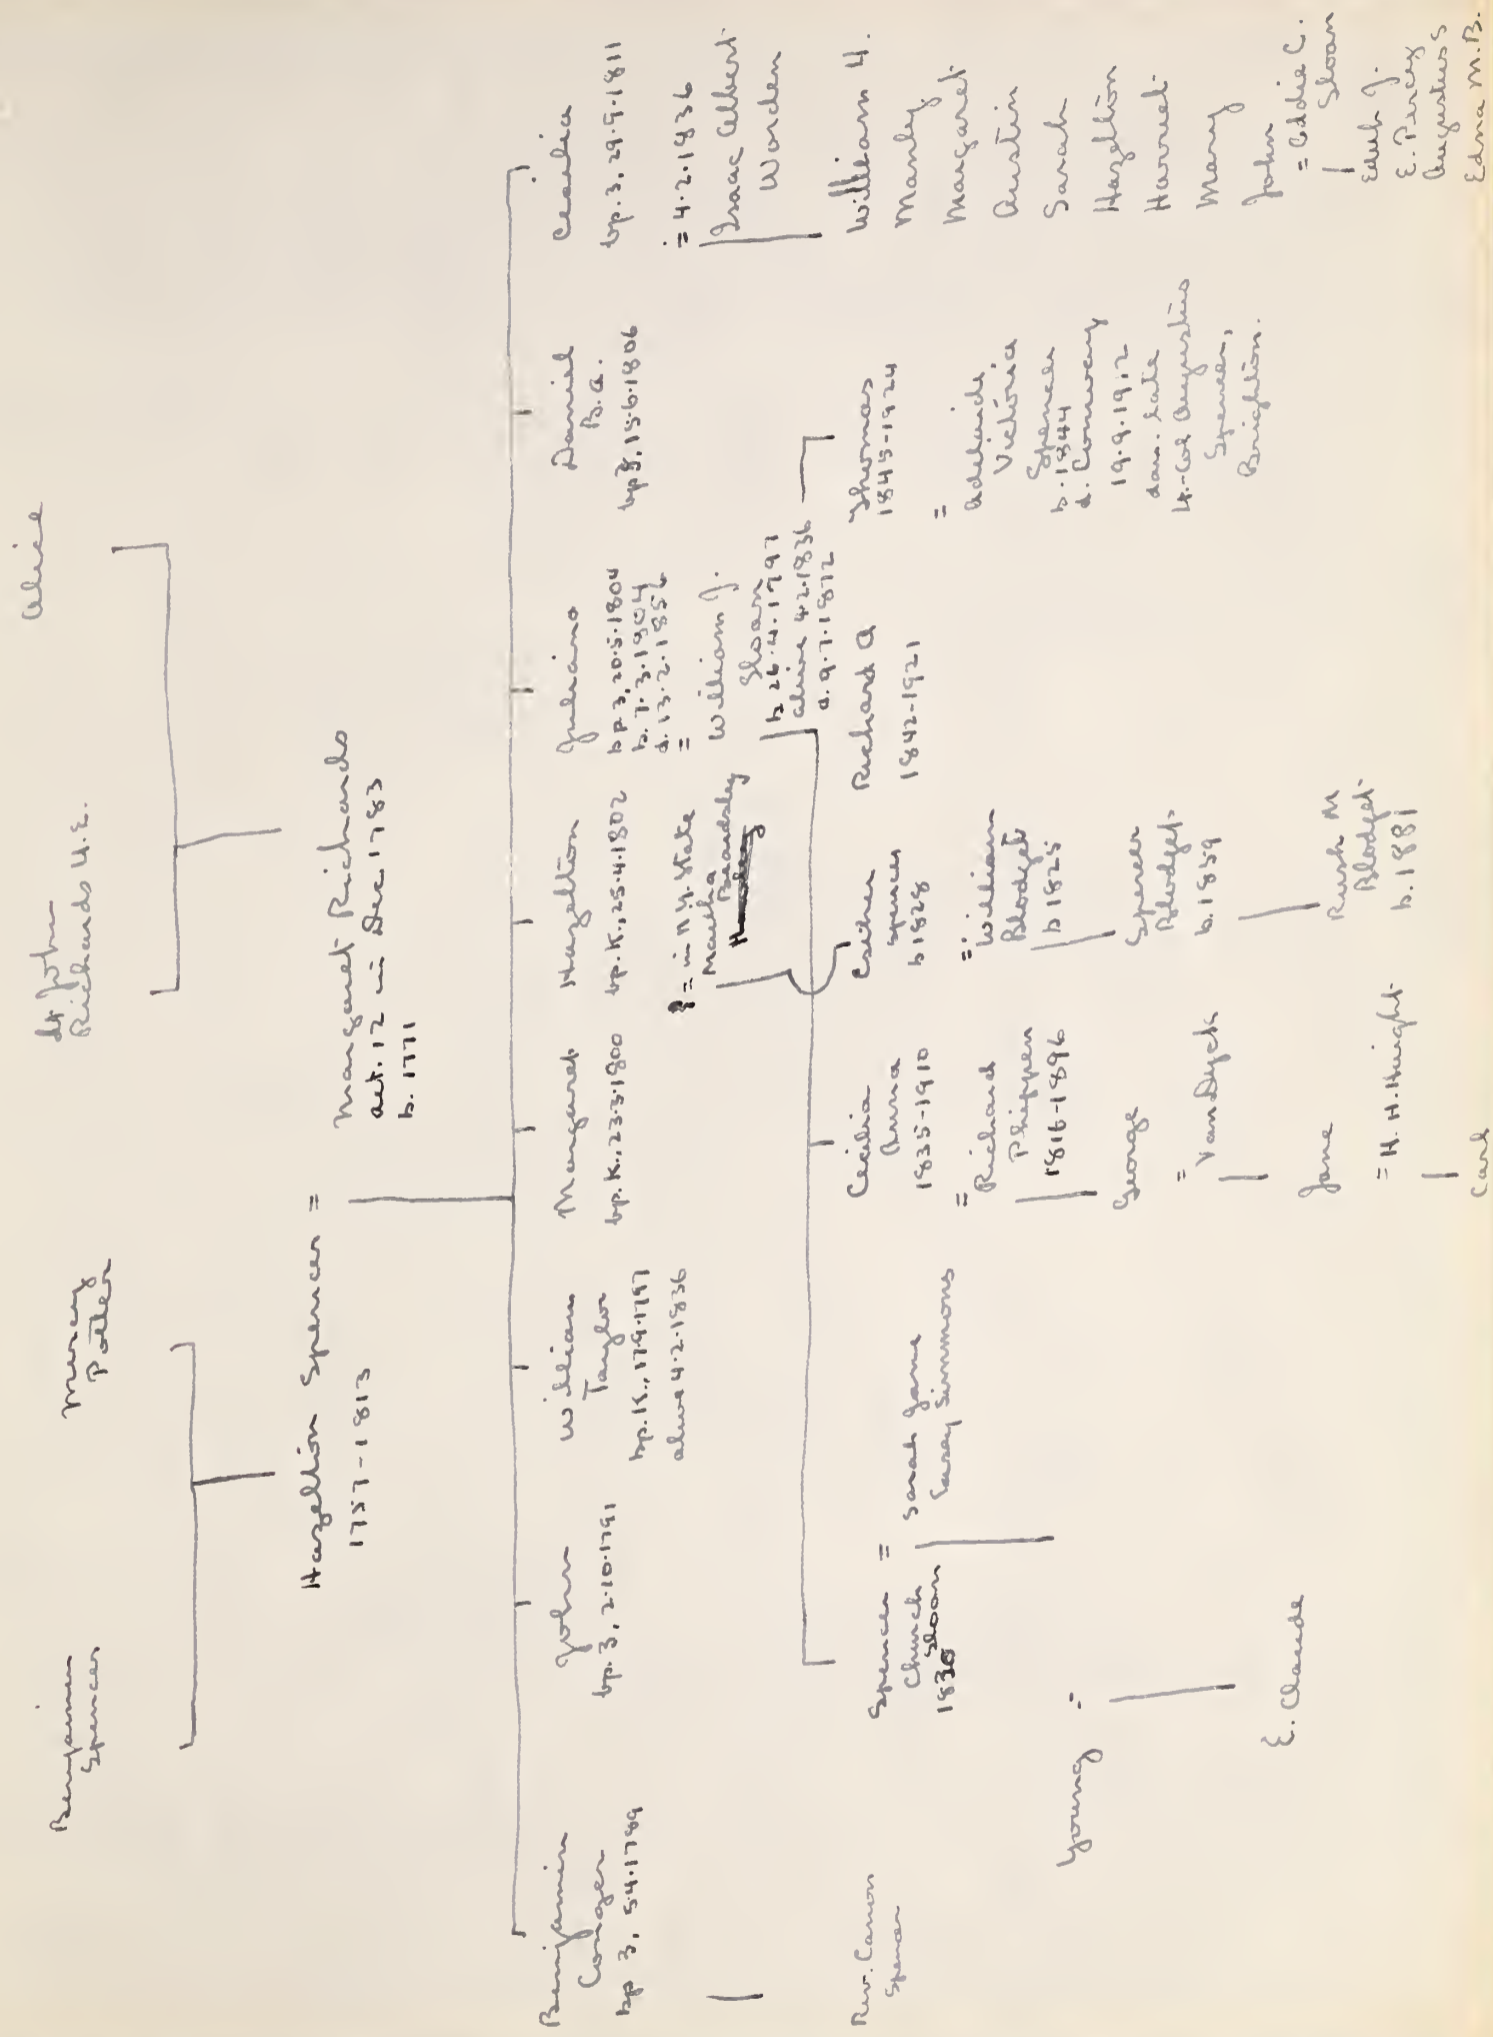

My sister, Miss Helen Bell Emerson, who called upon you at your office, are greatly interested in the Book of Remembrance, and will look forward to its publication.

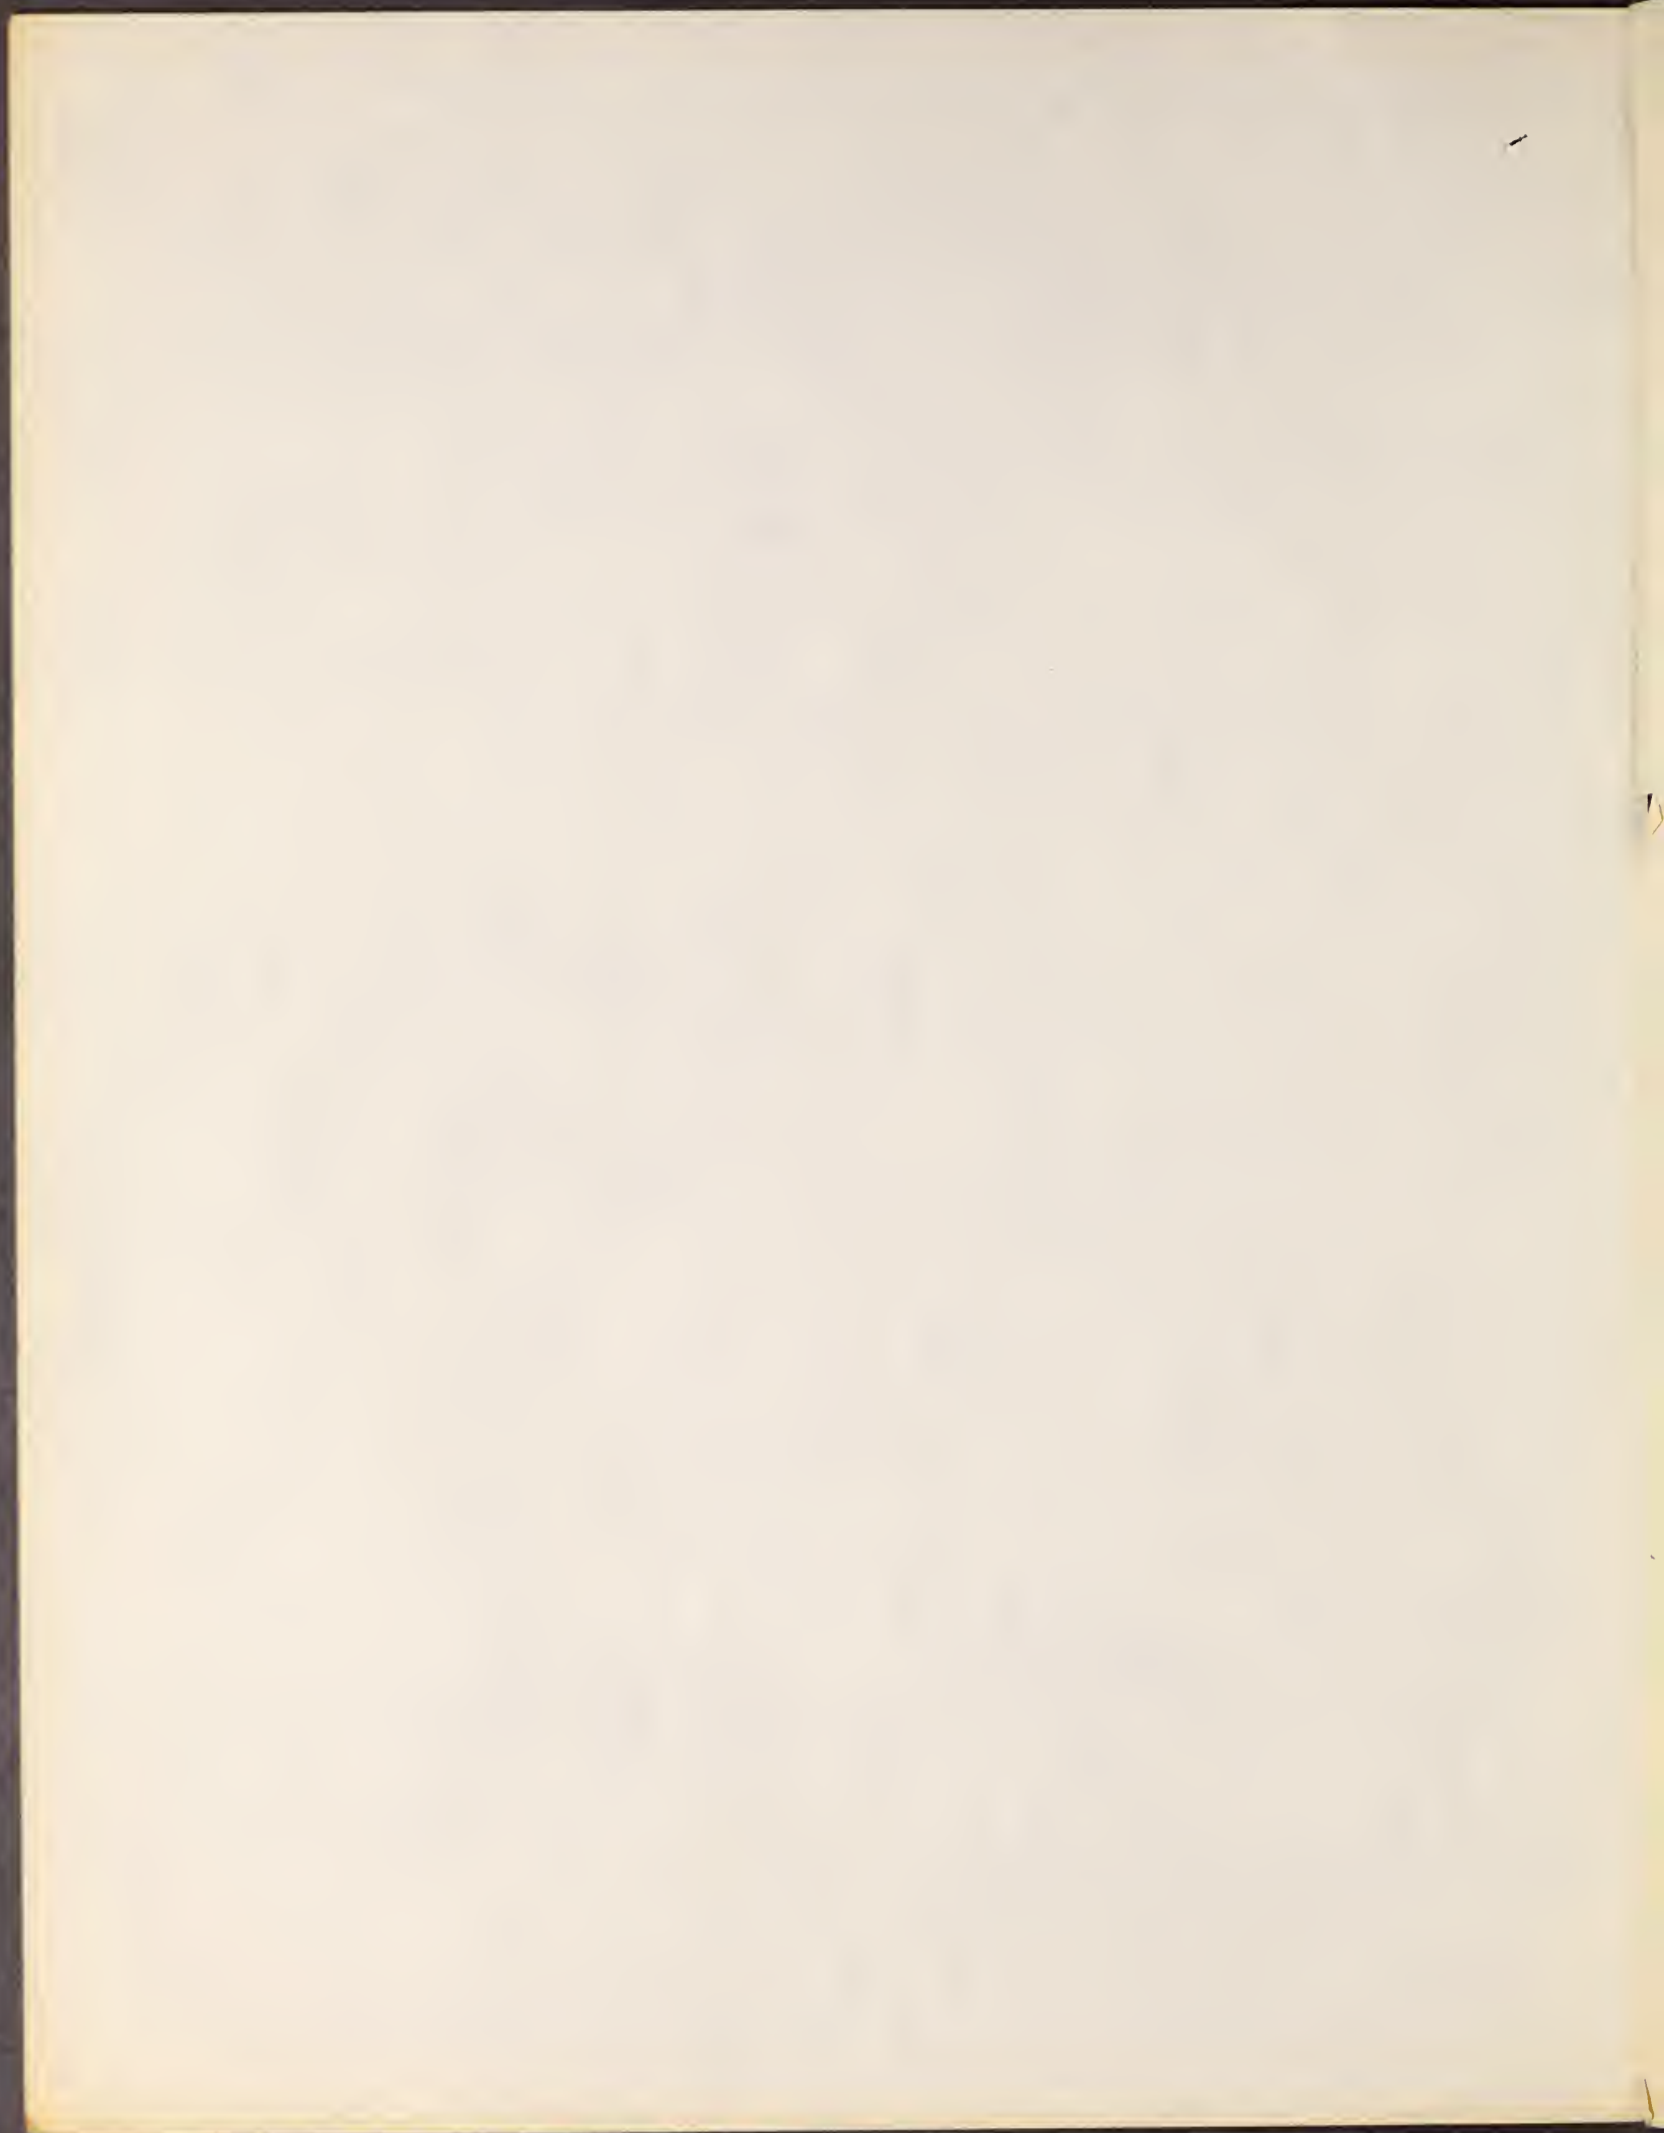

Wishing the greatest success to your efforts in thïs respect,

Yours cordially,

Grace M. Emerson

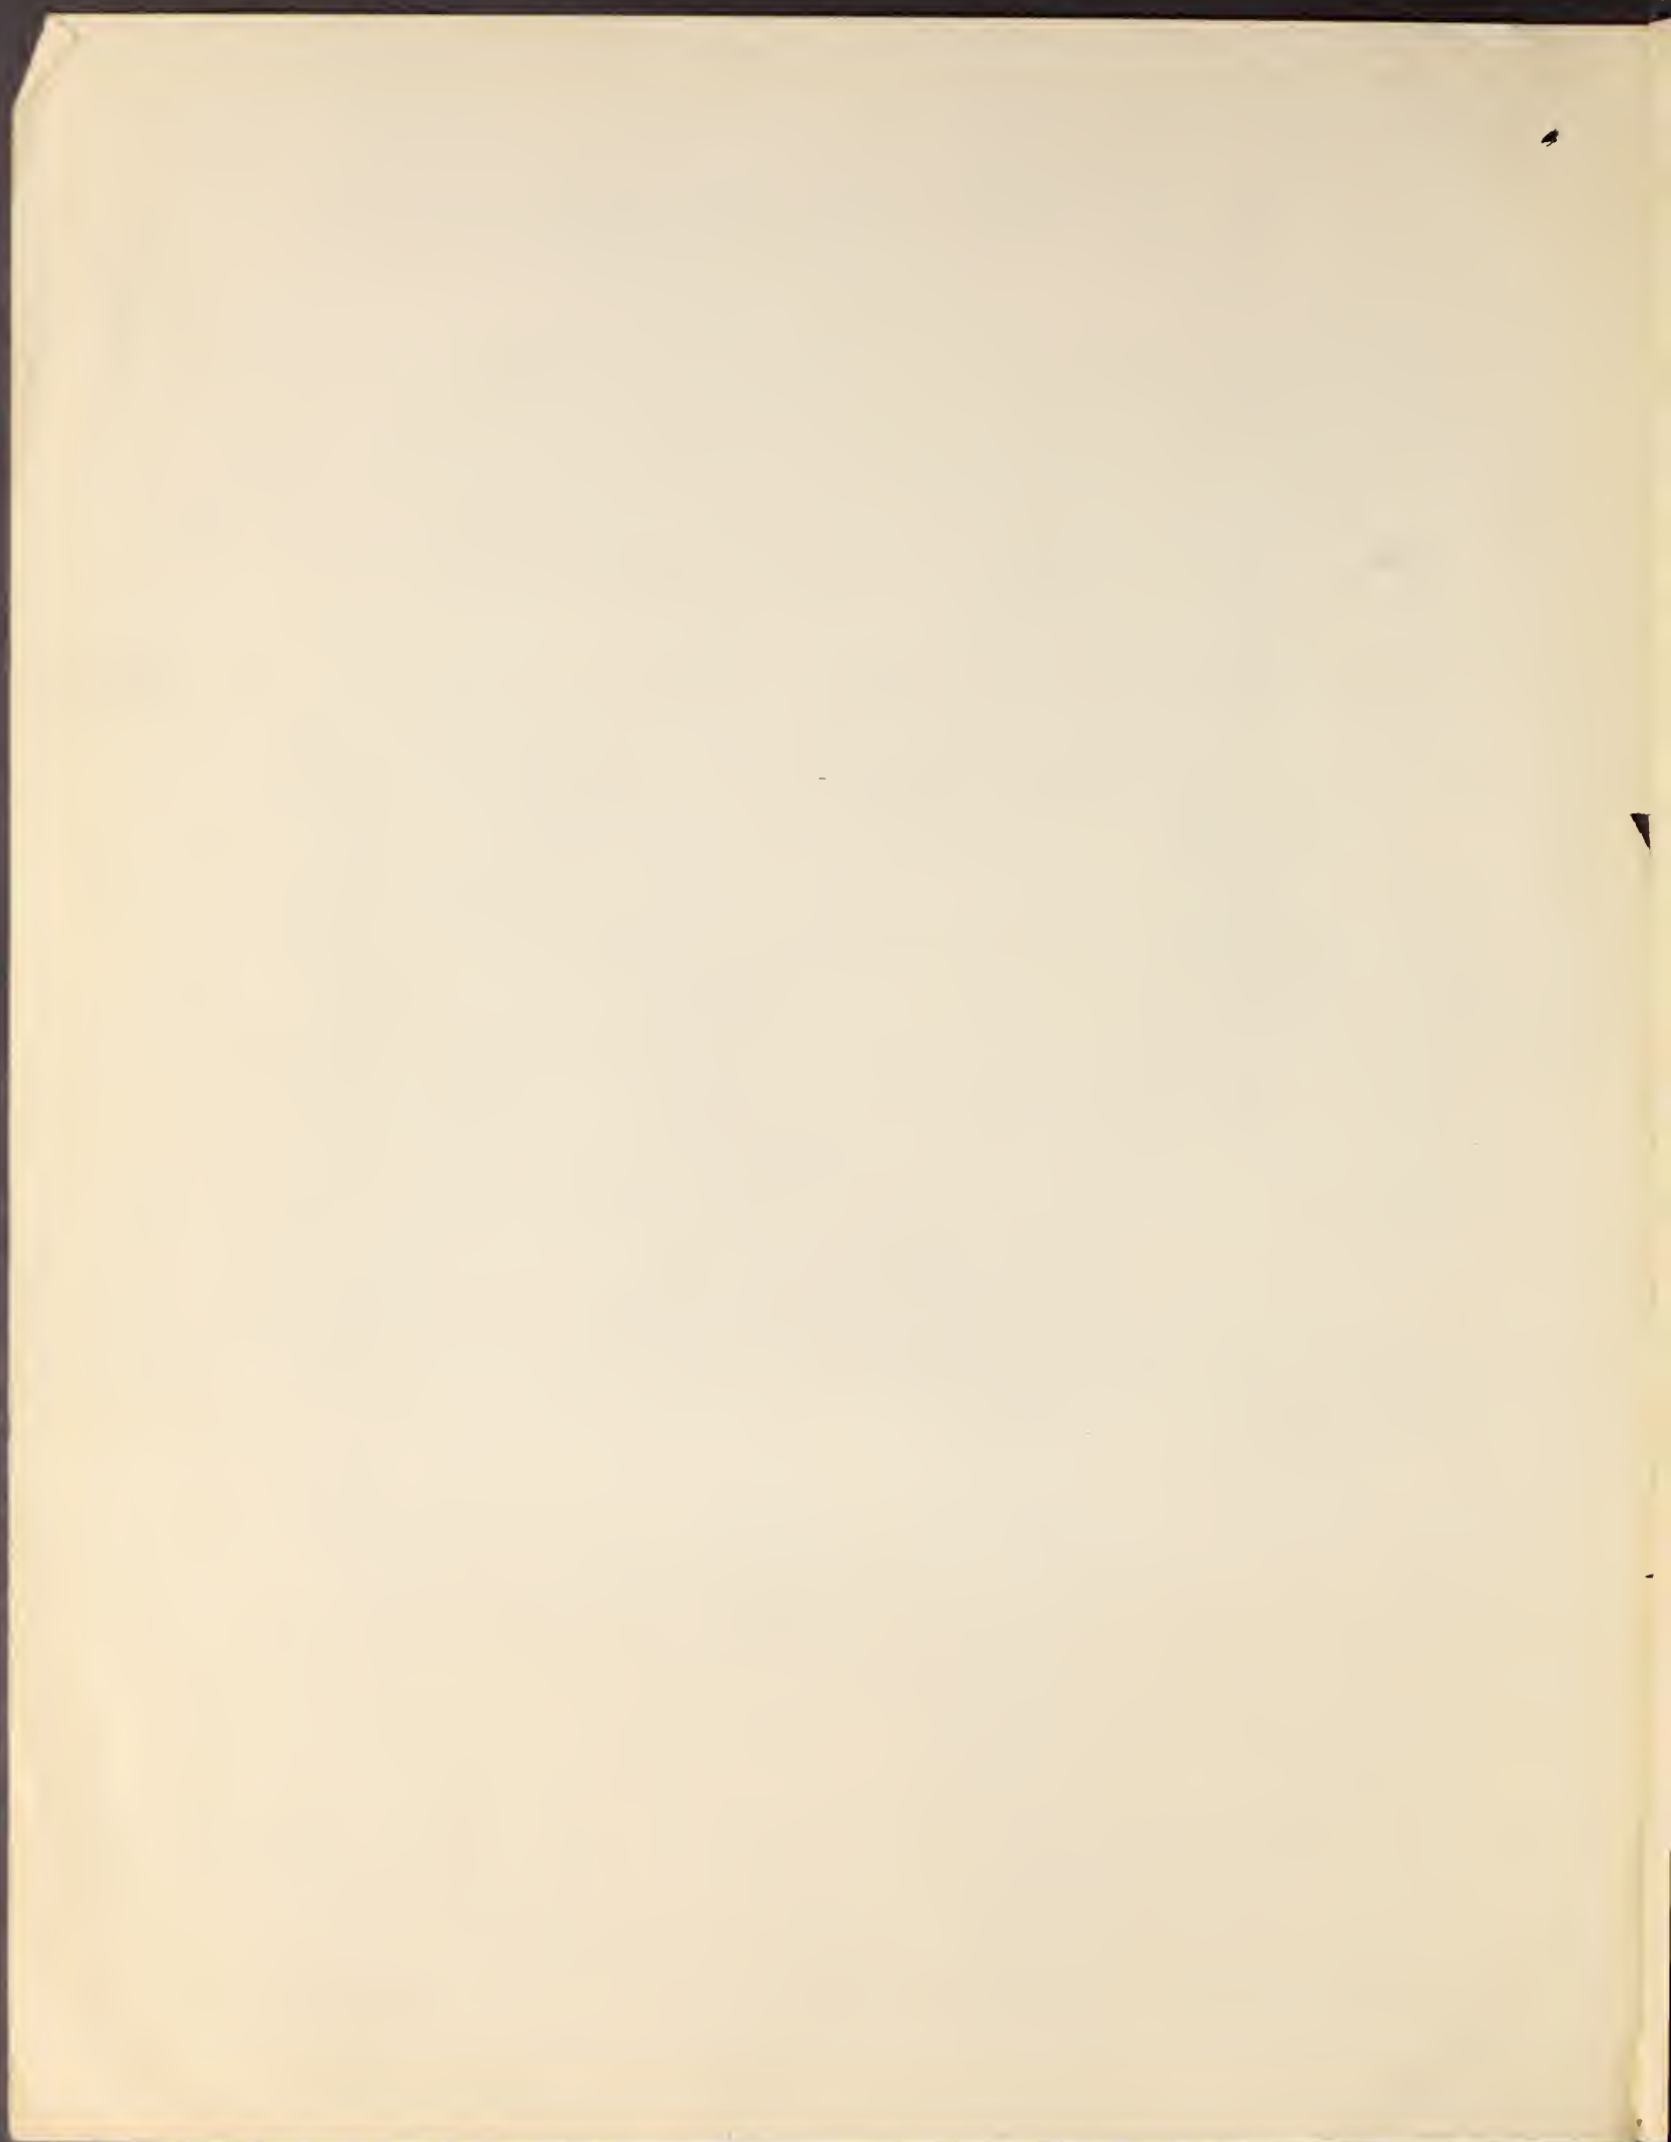

MEMOIR OF LIEUT. COLONEL HENRY YOUNG, the first settler of the County of Prince Edward, by his grandson, John C. Young.

Of Lieut. Col. Henry Youngs ancestors I know but little; that he was born at the town of Nottingham, England, that he came over to New York when he was eighteen years of age, that he was a gunsmith by trade, that he married a Scotch woman and settled in the town of Jamaca on Long Island, that his Christian name was Guy, that after a time he moved to the northern part of the state of New York to a place called Housiack, that he had four sons and two daughters, that he lived and died there at the extreme age of ninety three years---

Lieut. Col. Henry Young, the subject of this memoir, and the first settler of the County of Prince Edward, was born at the town of Jamaca on Long Island the tenth day of March, One thousand seven hundred and thirty seven. At the age of eighteen he joined the British army as a volunteer, was present at the Battle of Ticonderoga under General Abercrombie; he was with the army under General Amherst which went from Albany by the way of Lake Champlane to Montreal, where they met the army under General Murry the same day. He staid with the army untill peace took place in the year One thousand seven hundred and sixty three; then he returned home to Housiack where he soon after married a dutch woman of the name of Lampman. Here he remained in peace and quietness until the revolution broke out, when he again joined the British army; he was in seventeen Battles, and behaved so well That he rose to be an Officer in the Kings Royal Regiment of New York. I have his last commission before me, dated Sixteenth Day of November, one thousand seven hundred and eighty one. He was appointed Captain just before the close of the war, but did not get his Commission. He was wounded but once, in the lower part of his right hand. In seventeen hundred and eighty, he was sent with a detachment of troops under Major Ross to Kingston; they built a fort on Carlton Island and at Oswego, where he remained untill peace took place and was discharged at Kingston in June, seventeen hundred and eighty three on half pay, and a grant of three thousand acres of land for his services ----

The was being over and he being discharged from the army, he turned his attention to look out for a place to settle, for he had the liberty to draw his land where-ever he chose, so he and a Lieut. of the same regiment he belonged to, by the name of McCanty or McQuinte, they procured a small boat and came up the bay to the place where Picton now stands; leaving their boat there, they started in a southerly direction; they travelled five or six miles, they came right upon the north corner of east lake, called the Old Indian Landing, which name it still retains; they then turned to the east and traveled round the south side of the lake to the south Corner of the lake. To their surprise, they heard the roar of Ontario; they made their way across the strip of land that separates the two lakes, Covered with cedar spruce and balsam, a little over half a mile wide; they came out at the mouth of the Outlet at a beautiful sand beach two miles long. They took off their shoes and Stockings and waded around the mouth of the outlet; they persued their way along the beach to the north Corner of the bay, where David McDonald now lives, built a shanty of cedar bushes and stayed there that night; next morning, they started in a northwest direction and came to the west lake; turning towards the west they made their way to the west lake Beach. Traversing the Beach they came to the west Corner of west lake, where the town of Wellington now stands; there they staid all night; next day they took a Circuit around through the woods, and at night got back to their boat. Next day, they went back to Kingston. They found the woods full of deer and other game, and plenty of fish in the lakes, so he decided upon the west side of east lake for his future residence. His oldest son, Daniel Young, was at Kingston, having been with him all the time he was at Oswego, having belonged to the engeneering Department; his second son, Henry Young, was at St. Johns with the rest of the family; he sent for him by some of his friends that were coming up. In September he procured a large canoe, loaded it with provisions and goods, and with his two boys came up the bay, landed at the same place where he did on his first trip, crossed over what has always since been called the Carrying place, to the north Corner of the East lake, called the old Indian landing.

There they made a large Canoe to carry their goods to the place selected for their home, it being about three miles distance, or about the centre of the lake. There they built a shanty, and Daniel Young, and Henry Young, Jun., were the two first white men that wintered in Prince Edward County. He left them there, and, late in the fall, he went down to St. Johns and in the following spring returned with the remainder of his family, consisting of four girls, viz., Elizabeth, Mary, Sarah, and Catherine, left them at Fredericksburg, went up the lake and found all well, built a log house, and in October seventeen hundred and eighty four, moved them up to their woodland home. The greatest Difficulty they had to overcome was to get their goods, necessities from Kingston. They had to bring all their things up in a Canoe to the Carrying place, then carry them across to the old Indian landing, five or six miles, and then bring them in their Canoe to their home, and that is the way they had to do for three or four years.

Lieut. Col. Henry Young died the third day of December One thousand eight hundred and twenty, aged eighty three years, nine months and seven days; his eldest son Daniel Young, was born at Housiack ----- lived at the homestead at the east lake, and died the thirtieth of September, eighteen hundred fifty, aged eighty five years, one month and twenty five days.

I do not know the date of the birth of Henry Young Jun., nor his age but he was a Lieutenant Of Militia, went to Kingston as a volunteer, and died there the latter part of December eighteen and twelve, was brought home and buried the first Day of January, eighteen hundred and thirteen. Hannah, his Daughter, not mentioned above, was married in the states to a man by the name of Vosburgh; he died there, and she moved to Canada in eighteen hundred and eight or nine; Elizabeth married Henry Zuveltdt; Mary married Jonathan Ferguson; Catherine married William Dyre; Sarah married John Miller; they all lived to be over eighty years of age.

Mr G. W. Stalker
RR 1 BATH Ont.

Dear Mr Stalker

I was very pleased to have your reply to my earlier enquiry and to note your interest in the research underway in my ancestors

You have been very helpful through mentioning my letter to Dr. H.C.Burleigh of Bath and I am writing him today, sending along a digest of facts uncovered of the Young family connections

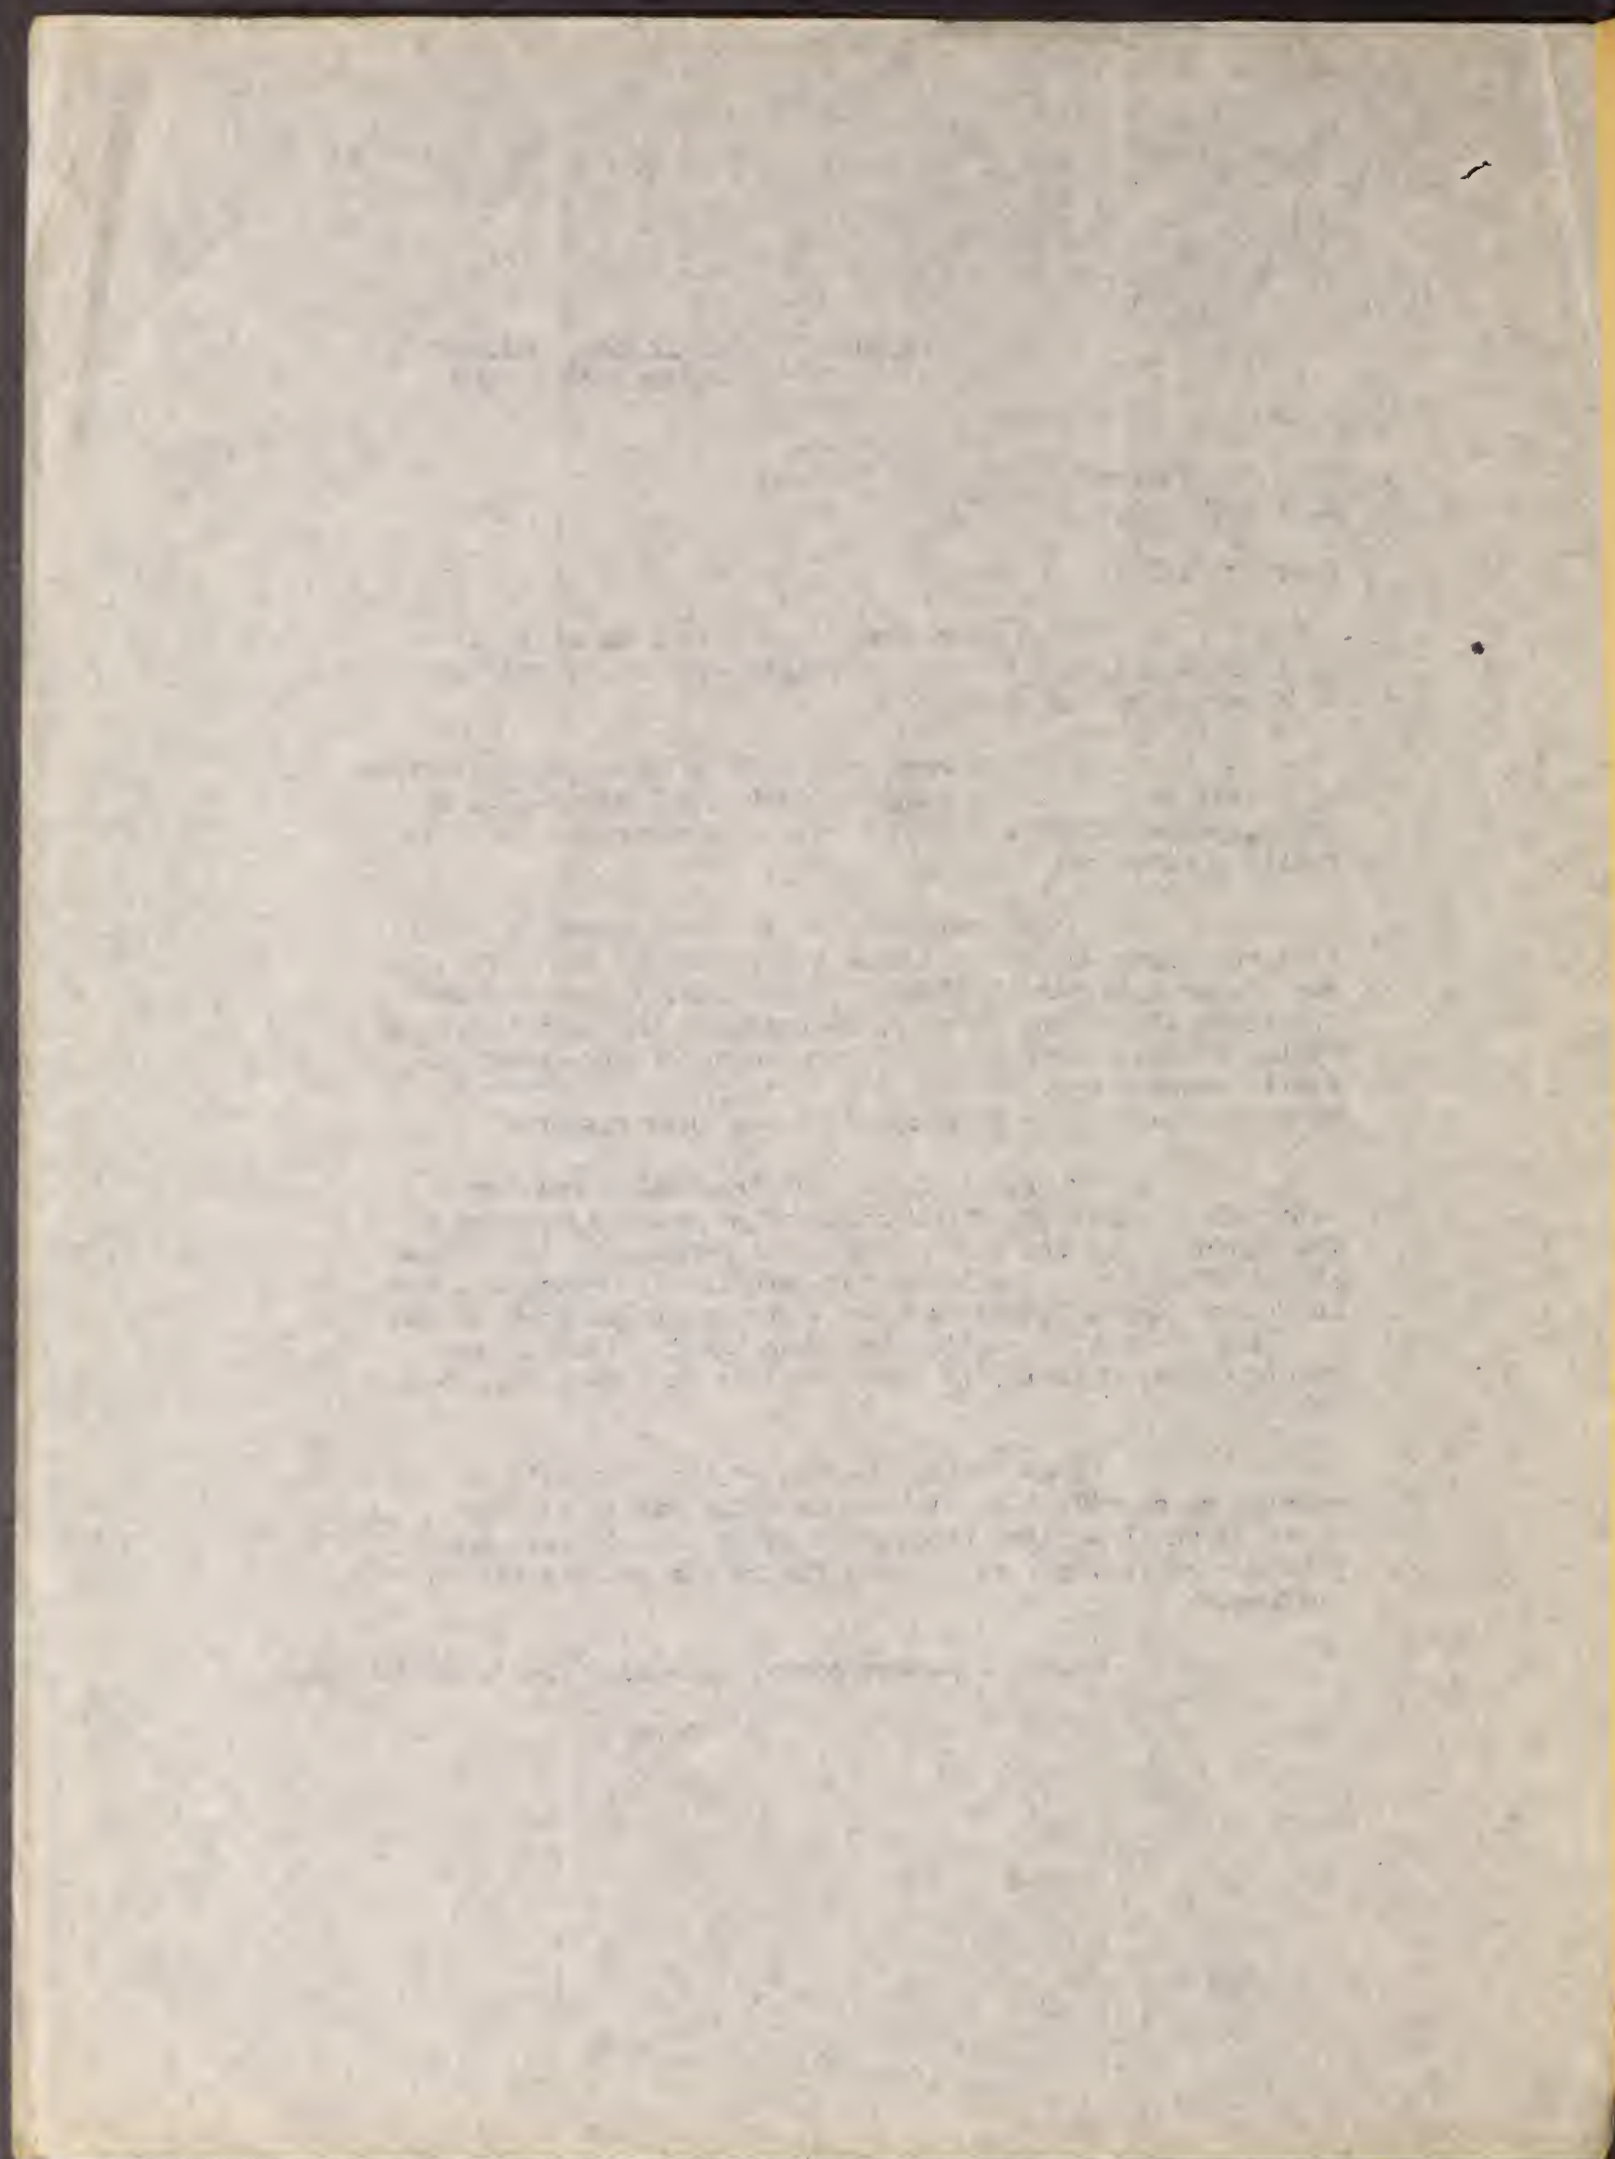

Noting your comment re the Aylesworth family I am wondering whether the book you speak was the book that was prepared for the 1935 or 1937 reunion. I have had the privilege of looking it over, and promised the opportunity of having it for a period long enough to carefully study the family connections. On the other hand, it is possible the book you have may be more complete and authoritative

My principal thought in writing you was to ascertain whether any old records of names and addresses of the U.S. pioneers who came to Adolphustown around the period 1780-1820 might be available for scrutiny and checking. Here in Prince Edward County we have a fine reference work in the PIONEERS OF QUINTE and also in the Belden's Atlas of the county prepared in 1878. These records have been very helpful.

As my busiest period of the year will be opening up shortly, I shall have to defer visits to your district until a later time, but I shall hope to have the pleasure of visiting you personally in the not too distant future.

Meantime please accept sincere Season's Greetings.

Yours

Box 73, Wellington, Ontario

Mr Roland Stalker
ADOLPHUSTOWN, Ont.

Dear Mr Stalker;

May I be permitted to offer congratulations on your recent election to the important office of Reeve of your Township.

It was because of this I presumed to write and make some enquiries respecting ancestors of both my father and mother, who were among the real early settlers of Adolphustown and Hay Bay districts.

Too many years have elapsed to have the privilege of personal talks with any present day residents whose memory could reach back over the years.

But, there is a possibility that some record exists which could confirm the arrival of my ancestors from their previous homes in the northeastern States following the Revolutionary War. And it is my hope you might be able to direct me to such records.

My father's people, John and Daniel Young(or as more familiarly called Youngs) were born 1790 and 1793 but we do not know whether in Pennsylvannia or in Ontario, and came to Prince Edward county when about 20 years of age. They were of Dutch descent.

My mother's father, Spencer Church Sloan was born at Hay Bay in 1825. We always understood there was a relationship with Col. Hazleton Spencer. Other family connections were the Catons, Phippens, Aylesworths, Ameys, Urquharts. My grandfather Sloan's niece Mabel Sloan Wallis living in Kingston told me a few months ago (just before we moved down from western Ontario) that there are many cousins living between Bath and Adolphustown.

Meantime, any assistance you might be able to offer will be very greatly appreciated. I am looking forward to springtime when I can conveniently get about, and hoping to meet some of our folks.

With the Compliments of the Season, I remain,

Sincerely your

E. Claude Young
